Russ Launch Biggest 5-Year Plan

Extra $1.5 Billion For U.S. Arms

Ike Passes Up Tax Cuts To Boost Military Power

(CP and UP Dispatches)

It calls for an increase in military spending of almost a billion and a half dollars because of Russia's failure to agree to a workable disarmament program.

It almost doubles new foreign aid money which, the president said, is needed to fight international communism in Asia and the Middle East and provide the Atlantic alliance with new weapons and equipment.

It was a no-tax-cut budget. As long as times continue good, he said, Congress must first consider reducing the national debt before slashing taxes.

The spending figure was up $1.6 billion over the current year, with most of the increase earmarked for air power, atomic weapons and guided missiles.

REVENUES BOOMING

But federal revenues were estimated to rise even faster under the impact of the booming economy—from $64.5 billion this year to $66.3 billion in fiscal 1957, which begins next July 1.

That means a budget surplus of $400 million for 1957. And Mr. Eisenhower said revised figures for the current year show there will be a surplus of $200 million on June 30. They are the first surpluses since 1951.

The budget proposes an increase next year of virtually $1,000,000,000 in direct defence spending, to a total of $35,547,000,000, plus an increase in spending for atomic energy development and control of $230,000,000, to $1,945,000,000.

26,736 AIRCRAFT

Mr. Eisenhower's proposed military expenditures would support an air force of 137 wings, 26,736 planes and 936,000 men; a navy of 411 warships, 12,576 planes, three marine divisions with air wings, and 868,958 men, including marines; and an army of 19 divisions, 10 regimental combat teams, 143 anti-aircraft battalions and 1,034,500 men.

About $6.8 billion would be used for purchase of military planes, including the B-52 intercontinental bomber and new supersonic fighters. $1.3 billion would go for guided missiles.

President Eisenhower explained the increased military expenditure is due to the failure of Soviet leaders to give "any tangible evidence of an intention to agree on a plan of disarmament that can be verified by adequate inspection."

ARMS AID NOT ENOUGH

Eisenhower asked for new foreign aid appropriations amounting to $4,860,000,000, almost double the $2,700,000,000 approved last year.

The proposed expenditures included funds for defence support for nations who otherwise could not afford to maintain forces raised to bolster national and international security, for the economic development of backward areas and for technical aid programs.

The president said that military aid is not enough to meet the challenge which faces the non-Communist world.

"Because the conditions of poverty and unrest in less-developed areas make their people a special target of international communism there is a need to help them achieve the economic growth and stability necessary to preserve their independence against Communist threats and enticements."

TORY WOMEN ELECT PRESIDENT

OTTAWA (BUP)—Miss Elizabeth Janzen of Kitchener, Ont., was elected president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Canada today.

Mrs. Grace Sparks of St. John's, Nfld., was named secretary.

Death Driver Never Drove Car Before

Admits Drinking Before Accident

A city policeman testified today 20-year-old Peter Henry Bell said he had never driven before and that he had been drinking prior to becoming involved in a fatal accident in Victoria West Dec. 27.

Bell, a sailor, was charged with motor manslaughter following the death of Becher Bay Indian tribe chief Jasper J. Charles, 55, early the morning of Dec. 28.

Charles died following a car-truck crash at about 9 p.m. on Dec. 27.

RYE AND BEER

Ward also testified Bell told him that he had been drinking rye and beer.

Constable Ward said that as he was bending over Charles, who was lying on the roadway, Bell said he was the driver of the car which collided with the truck.

An eye-witness, George Belcher, said the car was weaving from side to side on Johnson Street and did not have lights burning.

COMMENDATION FOR HERO SOLDIER

Commendation for saving an Esquimalt girl's life last June 6 was received today by Work Point military policeman L/Cpl. Roy Donnelly, 28, 976 Esquimalt. Praise came from chief of the army general staff, Lt.-Gen. H. D. Graham. Susan Darling, nine, 1133 Heald, has been in hospital seven months and will be there another six recovering from burns sustained when playing near bonfire. Soldier caught her as she ran in panic. ## Soviet Resolve To Surpass West Worries Britain

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia Sunday announced an all-out drive to "overtake and surpass" the capitalist West in industrial, atomic and agricultural development.

The challenge came in a new five-year plan issued by the Soviet Communist party covering the years 1956-1960 inclusive. The plan, sixth in the series launched by Stalin in 1928, provides for:

1. A 65 per cent increase in industrial output by 1960, combined with speeded-up mechanization and the "automation" of industrial processes on a "wide scale."

2. A big new project to tap atomic energy for electricity, development and atomic energy for transport purposes and a plan to build an atom-powered icebreaker.

3. Record targets for steel, 68,000,000 tons, and coal, 593,000,000 tons, by 1960. The original targets set by Premier Nikolai Bulganin in a speech to the party central committee last July were 60,000,000 tons and 500,000,000 tons respectively.

4. Fifty per cent more technicians and specialists—interpreted as a serious challenge to the West.

5. A 70 per cent increase in heavy industry, wage increases of 30 per cent for Soviet workers and the building of twice as many houses as under the 1951-55 plan.

6. More intensive schooling for all Soviet children.

7. A trebled fleet of freighters and tankers and an almost fourfold expansion of the Soviet fishing fleet.

8. A major development of television, including color transmission.

The plan takes the form of a series of directives to be submitted for approval to the 20th Communist party congress opening in Moscow Feb. 14. Technically, however, the plan went into force Jan. 1.

Must Match Russia—London Times

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers today cite the technological training program outlined in Russia's sixth five-year plan as something which the West must try to match or emulate.

The Times says the announcement of Soviet targets for the next five-year plan, starting this month, is a sobering reminder of the steady industrial progress which continues as the background to Soviet foreign policy.

It points out that the plan reverses the relaxation of effort proposed under the brief regime of Georgi Malenkov. It adds that the length of time the Russian people will be asked to continue at this pace "depends very much on the international policies of its leaders."

"The Soviets enjoy some material advantages over the free world in the development of their resources. Some of these are due to difference of political outlook, some not.

"An avoidable handicap, of which Great Britain in particular should take heed, lies in neglect of the training of technologists.

The Manchester Guardian speculates that Russian aims to "overtake" the most advanced capitalist countries in the new five-year plan may depend more on whether "it can greatly increase food production" than on "the remarkable plans for technical education or increased power output."

It points out that "Russia had made its great industrial progress since the war by exploiting the workers in a way which would not be tolerated in the West."

The News Chronicle, noting provisions for increasing the number of technicians during the present five-year period by 50 per cent, asserts: "In a world of competitive co-existence, where technological skills are essential to survival, the threat is obvious and enormous. The West is lagging hopelessly behind in technical education."

The Daily Mail declares:

"By 1960, the last year of the new plan, she (Russia) will have doubled her total of technicians in all branches of industry, while the number of highly educated specialists in heavy industry will be half as much again.

"Neither Britain nor America has so far been able to show anything comparable with this."

13 Boys, Girls Arrested In Vancouver Crackdown

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirteen teenagers were arrested after 50 were questioned by police during the weekend in a crackdown on hooliganism ordered by police chief George Archer.

Offences ranged from disturbing the peace to drunkenness and car theft. A 15-year-old girl was charged with intoxication. Two older youths may face charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency, said police. They were found in the company of two girls, 14 and 15, at a hotel drinking party.

Police dispersed noisy gangs on Granville Street.

The two-block stretch will receive special attention from the youth detail, now backed by a special "trouble squad" which the new chief has ordered to clean out "gathering places of youthful rowdy elements and street corner hooliganism."

Two youths were charged with threatneing a restaurant owner with a knife when he wouldn't give them a free meal. Officers forced another group of youths to clean up a cafe where they had ripped telephone books to shreds and dumped sugar bowls on the floor.

Three youths are sought in the beating of a taxi driver who said he was hit with a rubber hose filled with ball bearings.

CROSS-CANADA JET NEARS 5-HOUR GOAL

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — An RCAF T-33 jet trainer attempting to fly from Vancouver to Halifax in five hours or less took off from Fort William at 1.24 p.m., CST (11.24 a.m., Victoria time), today after a 25-minute stopover for refuelling.

The plane left Vancouver's International Airport at 7.49 a.m. (PST).

Acquitted Immigrant Turns On Gas, Dies

VANCOUVER (BUP) — German immigrant George Kramer, acquitted last fall in the Okanagan Valley strangulation death of his wife, committed suicide Sunday night by gas poisoning in his Vancouver room.

Kramer, 28, was found overcome sitting in a rocking chair beside the gas stove in his suite.

The jury returned the not guilty verdict after evidence showed the woman's death accidental. She had died of strangulation during a passionate embrace, evidence showed.

Discovery of his wife's body in a shallow grave along the Okanagan highway near Oliver ended a six-day search for the couple. Kramer was found later by RCMP wandering along the highway in an incoherent condition.

UNEMPLOYED

Kramer has been unemployed since Christmas, friends told police.

Police found $2.75 in his pocket after being called to the scene by caretaker A. L. Brewer. Brewer had become suspicious after he noticed linen hanging outside Kramer's room had been untouched all day.

Earlier Sunday, fire department inhalator workers were unable to revive 73-year-old Christopher Wright, who was found overcome of gas poisoning in his room.

On the traffic front, Vancouver recorded its second fatality of the year Sunday night when Willam Adams, 62, of Beaverlodge, Alta., was killed in a traffic smash-up at Cambie and Broadway.

Adams died in a hospital an hour after he received multiple injuries when a car in which he was riding collided with a second vehicle driven by Joseph Desjardins. Police identified the driver of the Adams car as John Dahl, 39.

Vancouver's first 1956 fatality was officially recorded Saturday when Alex Anderson, 75, died following being injured in a traffic accident Jan. 6.

Three Young People Killed by Car Fumes

RIMBEY, Alta. (CP)—Three young persons were killed by carbon monoxide fumes Sunday while sitting in a parked car. The discovery was made by the parents of one of the victims.

The dead: Glenda Joan Farnham, 18, of the Faraway district, 30 miles west of here and about 90 miles southwest of Edmonton; Joseph Toth, 23, and his brother, Nicholas, 25, of Alder Flats, Alta.

The bodies were found by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Farnham. The car was parked in the Farnham farm yard.

WIRE BRIEFS

Finnish Election

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) The voters today and Tuesday will name 300 electors who meet here Feb. 15 to pick a successor to retiring president Juho Paasikivi, 85. He winds up his second term and 10 years in office Feb. 29.

$6,000 Street Holdup

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Two armed, masked bandits escaped with federal government funds of $6,000 in cash today after a street holdup of two men returning from a bank.

6 Companies Indicted

TORONTO (CP)—A grand jury today returned a true bill indicting six wire-fence companies, charged with operating a combine between January, 1933, and December, 1951.

Pact Waits Red Reply

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has submitted a draft trade agreement to Russia but has had no reply, Trade Minister C. D. Howe told the Commons today.

Howe Fights Back At Wheat Critics

OTTAWA (BUP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe defended the government's wheat policy in the Commons today, declaring the Liberal party believed in strength and progress through "sufficiency."

The opposition, he said in a fighting speech, wanted strength and progress through "scarcity."

If in attaining sufficiency, Howe added, the country built up a temporary surplus of any product such as wheat, "We'll take the onus for that."

Policies based on scarcity, he said, "hold within themselves the seeds of inflation."

Howe entered the Throne Speech debate to answer opposition demands that cash advances be paid to western farmers for wheat held on their farms because of lack of elevator storage space.

Howe said that exports during the past four years had averaged 312,000,000 bushels of wheat a year, and in no year during the past four had Canada exported less wheat than it did in the best of the previous four years, from 1948 to 1951, which were "four very good, satisfactory years for Canada."

Howe also rejected suggestions that Canada should accept local foreign currencies for wheat, barter deals, or giveaway plans, unless the giveaway projects were to help a country facing a special disaster or crop failure.

Arms Rumor Cleared Up At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The Egyptian freighter Star of Assuan was chartered to carry Canadian military supplies to Turkey, defence officials said today.

Turkey is one of Canada's 14 partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Officials said they couldn't determine immediately what arms were being shipped to Turkey but they might well include 32 naval guns and 38 to 40 military trucks.

The officials were commenting on reports that the trucks, if actually aboard the freighter, might be destined for Egypt.

One said it was silly to assume that because the freighter is Egyptian it was carrying supplies to Egypt.

Egyptian Ambassador El Hussieni el Khatib said in Ottawa Friday the vehicles were not destined for Egypt and denied any knowledge of the shipment.

QUERY BY PEARKES

He was asked by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Conservative MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, opposition military critic, about reports that the Egyptian freighter might have been carrying army-type trucks to Egypt.

Poujade Charged With Defamation

PARIS (Reuters) — Pierre Poujade, leader of France's anti-tax movement, appeared in court Saturday on charges of defaming Pierre Schneiter, president of the last National Assembly.

Sheila Kaye-Smith, Noted Novelist, Dead

RYE, Eng. (Reuters)—Novelist Sheila Kaye-Smith, 68, died at her home near here Saturday.

Her first book, "The Tramping Methodist," was published in 1909 when she was 21. After this came a long series of books, many with a deeply religious strain.

Mungo Starts Carving Tuesday On World's Tallest Totem

Today chief carver Mungo Martin, his son, David, and assistant carver Henry Hunt, stripped the bark from the tree. This afternoon they planned to square up the butt by sawing off two to three feet.

The exact length of the carved portion of the tree has not been announced. But it will be over 100 feet, 19 feet more than the totem in the provincial museum in Toronto, which has been claimed as the world's tallest.

Since the tree was felled, Munga Martin has revised the design for the totemic story slightly to fit in with the raw material offered by the tree.

Carving will commence at the butt end of the tree, a departure from usual practice, which is to start at the top and work down. But Mungo wishes to use every possible inch of the tree in carving the world's tallest totem, and feels it will be better to begin at the heavier end.

Ten feet at the base of the tree will be buried in a cement foundation when it is erected at its permanent site. Thus actual carving will commence 12 to 13 feet from the end of the tree when it was felled.

Following his own design sketches, Mungo will rough out the figures on the pole, while David and Henry follow him, smoothing out and finishing them.

Actual work on carving will be started early Tuesday.

Eden Will Ask Ike Searching Questions

LONDON (Reuters)—British charges that Saudi Arabia is using American "oil money" to promote a wide anti-British campaign in the Middle East will be discussed at Prime Minister Eden's meeting with President Eisenhower in Washington later this month, diplomatic sources here said Sunday.

Eden is expected to ask that the influence of the United States be used to remove what the British government maintains is a serious impediment to Anglo-American efforts to pacify the troubled region.

1. The whipping up of agitation in neighboring Arab states against the five-nation Baghdad pact.

2. Attempting to bribe Arab sheiks in the Persian Gulf with millions of pounds in efforts to gain control of the oil-rich Buraimi oasis area.

BROOKLYN CHURCH BECOMES TOWER OF BABEL

Two Rectors Preach From Same Pulpit

NEW YORK (AP) — Two ministers simultaneously occupied the pulpit of a Brooklyn Episcopal church Sunday in a parish feud over a controversial rector.

The setting was the stately, 102-year-old Church of the Holy Trinity, but the bustling activities within the edifice presented anything but the usual quiet devout Sunday worship.

At early morning prayer services, a divided congregation listened to the controversial Rev. William Howard Melish and the bishop-appointed Rev. Robert Thomas. The preachers' competing voices and the responses of the split congregations brought to mind the biblical story of the Tower of Babel.

For the principal service at 11 a.m. Sunday, some 250 persons filed into the church.

Both rectors began conducting services from the central pulpit. Thomas ordered a hymn, and the organ played. Melish began with prayers and responses.

After several minutes, Thomas was heard to tell Melish: "You are out of order, Mr. Melish."

For seven years a vestry fight was raged over Melish, accused of left-wing activities since he became chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship in 1949. Former Communist Louis Budenz has testified the clergyman was a Communist party member—a charge Melish has repeatedly denied.

Melish's father, Rev. John Howard Melish, was removed in 1949 as the last regular rector of the church by the bishop because of the alleged activities of his son, then assistant rector.

For years the vestry and the congregation sided with the younger Melish, and were blocked only by Bishop James P. DeWolfe from installing the son as rector.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

GOD, the fountain of all truth, we thank Thee for the devoted teachers in our schools, who serve as ambassadors of the truth. Endow them with wisdom, patience, and understanding for the mastery of their craft. Raise up many others to join them in the shaping of growing minds and hearts into good citizens of the nation and of the world; through Christ. Amen.

KNOW YOUR TEACHER

In the belief that parents of children attending schools in the Greater Victoria area are interested in knowing about personalities of the teachers who educate them, The Times continues a series on "Know Your Teacher." The articles will appear three times a week. The Teachers' Federation is co-operating.

MRS. MARGARET THOMSON

Specialist in library procedure, Mrs. Margaret Thomson is on the staff of Lansdowne Junior High School, where she teaches English and how to use library facilities.

Like many teachers, Mrs. Thomson attends summer school to increase her teaching qualifications and is now working for her library specialist certificate.

Born in Peebles, Scotland, she came to Nanaimo when five years old, attended public school in Nanaimo and Victoria and took her bachelor of arts in languages at Dalhousie University, N.S.

Back in Victoria, Mrs. Thomson went to Normal School in 1937 and began teaching in a brand-new two-room school with grades 1-10 at Stillwater, near Powell River, where she spent two years.

Married in 1939 to Howard Angus Thomson, who she had met at Normal School, she accompanied her husband to various coastal schools where he was employed as a teacher.

For a time, Mrs. Thomson gave up teaching to bring up her son Douglas, now 14, but resumed part-time work in 1945 when Mr. Thomson returned from service with the navy.

The family came to Victoria in 1946, and when her husband was killed in an automobile accident in 1948, Mrs. Thomson returned to full-time teaching. She spent five years at Monterey Elementary School before assigned to Lansdowne.

Her main interests outside of teaching and her family (she has another son, Bruce, 7), are books, gardening and cats, of which she and her boys have three. They live at 505 Leaside.

Gunderson Hits Ottawa Tax Plan

New Deal 'Fundamentally Wrong' B.C. Economic Adviser Charges

VANCOUVER (CP) — Einar Gunderson, economic adviser to British Columbia's Social Credit government, said here Saturday night the federal government's latest tax proposal for the province is "very disappointing."

The former provincial finance minister told the Vancouver Institute at a panel discussion at the University of B.C. that Prime Minister St. Laurent's latest suggestion, made known Wednesday, is "less favorable" than the present arrangement.

"This new agreement," Mr. Gunderson said, "appears to be a continuation of the policy of the pooling of provincial resources for distribution at a common average level and the continued imposition of a substantial measure of central fiscal control by the federal government."

The proposed new five-year deal to replace current tax rental agreements increases to 9 per cent from 8½ the federal deduction allowable for provincial corporation income tax payments.

"Out of every dollar earned from the exploitation of our natural resources, which are in a large part exported, the federal government, which hasn't invested a cent, takes a corporation tax of 45 cents and only considers nine cents of the 45 cents direct tax collected as belonging to the province for the rental of the direct tax field."

VALUE IGNORED

The economic adviser said Canada refuses to recognize the rental value of the direct taxation fields.

He also criticized the prime minister for not budging on his original suggestion of a federal 10 per cent allowance for provincial taxes on personal incomes.

"Individuals who earn their living by the exploitation of natural resources pay their income taxes direct to the federal government.

"The federal government—by the suggested agreement — apparently is of the opinion that only 10 per cent of the taxes so collected represent the rental value of the personal income tax field.

"Not only is the rate far too low but for one government authority to be dependent upon a percentage of the tax collected by another authority is fundamentally wrong in principle."

Premier Bennett has asked Ottawa to take "a second look" at its tax proposals.

"We think B.C. should get a fifth, or 20 per cent, of the personal income tax and 10 per cent of the corporation tax," the premier said.

Brink's Holdup Informer Admits Guilt in Surprise Trial

BOSTON (UP) Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, pint-sized hoodlum who spilled "all" about the $1,219,000 Brink's holdup, pleaded guilty to armed robbery at a surprise arraignment today.

O'Keefe, who turned informer and implicated 10 others in the world's biggest robbery, Jan. 17, 1950, was ordered held without bail for sentencing.

No date was set for the sentencing by Superior Judge Daniel D. O'Brien.

O'Keefe was not arraigned today on charges of conspiracy, burglary and assault on the Brink's guards during the holdup at the armored trucking service's counting house.

The arraignment came as police expected two other Brink's suspects, still at large, to surrender "momentarily."

EDITOR'S WIFE CRITICAL

Eden Affair 'Petticoat' Squabble?

LONDON (AP)—Could it be that a petticoat feud underlies Prime Minister Eden's troubles within his Conservative party?

Whispering in Mayfair was brought out in the open in print Sunday just as criticism of the Eden regime seemed to simmer down. Two young and attractive women, among others, have been mentioned in the gossip. They are Lady Eden, 35-year-old wife of the prime minister, and Lady Pamela Berry, 41-year-old wife of the editor-in-chief of the powerful Conservative newspaper The Daily Telegraph.

"And soon—who knows?—the differences between their womenfolk may be discreetly squared up too."

Alastair Forbes, political commentator for the Conservative Sunday Dispatch, says "it is true that she, Lady Pamela, is an outspoken critic not only of Sir Anthony but of Lady Eden."

Renewed Vows Asked In United Church

The Victoria presbytery of the United Church of Canada, meeting Feb. 14 and 15 in Centennial United Church, will devote much of its deliberations to a unique program of individual rededication.

The church emphasis on evangelism, a campaign now in its second year, will reach culmination on a local church basis at the Easter season this year, when every member of the church will be asked to repeat the original membership vows at rededication services in each charge.

Preceding the rededication of members will come inspirational meetings for elders and members of the boards of stewards. A one-day school of stewardship is set for Feb. 13, preceding presbytery meetings.

Each church will launch a visitation program during February and March to inform members of the evangelism campaign.

Sessions have been authorized to "purge" membership rolls following the visitation and rededication.

The evangelistic emphasis in the United Church began with a mission here by the Rev. Robert Cunningham of St. Andrews-Wesley Church, Vancouver, continued when Island ministers gathered for a two-day retreat, and has seen mass meetings of church members to hear officials of the church missionary and maintenance board.

It will culminate on a national scale in September of this year when the general council of the church meets to arrange the coast-to-coast tour of an internationally-known evangelistic speaker.

New Drive on Heart Disease Suggested by Health Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin today suggested a national body be set up to promote public interest in the problem of heart disease.

He made the suggestion to heart specialists and public health officials attending a one-day conference on heart disease, Canada's No. 1 killer.

Mr. Martin praised the work of the Canadian Heart Association, formed in 1946, but added: "I understand that the association, however, is essentially a professional body and perhaps the time has come to consider the possibility of forming an organization of somewhat broader aims with a view to co-ordinating research activities, public education and fund raising."

MAY FOLLOW OTHERS

He said formation of the National Cancer Institute and the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society had followed similar national conferences.

"Heart disease, which takes as many as 45,000 Canadian lives a year, is our No. 1 killer and accounts for one out of every three deaths," Mr. Martin said.

"In its various forms heart disease brings death to more Canadians than cancer, accidents, pneumonia, tuberculosis and diabetes combined."

The meeting is expected to set up plans for studying the extent of heart disease in Canada, the measures now being taken against it and to plan for the future.

One subject to be discussed is whether enough money now is available to fight heart disease and if not how to provide more. The federal government has furnished about $750,000 for research in hospitals and universities and for provincially-administered programs.

Those attending include Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy health minister, senior health officers of the provinces, representatives of medical faculties of universities, Dr. T. C. Routley, president of the Canadian Medical Association, and Dr. George A. Strong, president of the Canadian Heart Association.

Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath".

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident cleanser is recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates. Polident gets where a brush can't reach.

New PWA Service Fast, Comfortable

Victoria-Nanaimo 'One Cigarette Smoking Time'; New Plane Ordered

By TONY DICKASON

About 25 newspaper and radio men Saturday were treated to a dry run ot the new Pacific Western Airlines link with Vancouver from here via Nanaimo.

The thrice daily service started this morning with the 28-passenger DC3 touching down at Patricia Bay at 8.40, carrying five passengers. Second flight arrived her at 11.40 and the final flight at 2.40 p.m. When lighting has been approved at Cassidy airport, 6½ miles south of Nanaimo, flight frequency will be increased to six daily.

Company officials agreed that at first they expected fairly light loads from the Victoria end, as direct TCA flights to Vancouver are frequent.

They said, however, the company is counting on heavy Nanaimo-Vancouver traffic, and vice versa.

CARRY LUGGAGE

Victoria passengers buy tickets at the downtown office, 912 Government, and carry their own luggage to the airport. C & C Taxi will provide bus service, and meets all planes. Buses leave the city 35 minutes before plane time. There are no reservations.

Stops at airports are five minutes only.

The PWA Patricia Bay office, at the extreme south end of the airport, is spanking new and shiny. To the rear is the company hangar where it is expected much of PWA overhaul and repair work will be done in future.

The inaugural flight for the newsmen had been laid on for Friday, but that being the 13th, discerning PWA public relations man Al Williamson decided to delay it a day, just in case there were fetish-minded souls in the gathering.

The DC3 was piloted by Capt. Jack Miles, Argentine-born Englishman with 9,500 hours logged.

QUICK FLIP

Victoria-Nanaimo takes about one cigaret smoking time, and the same goes for Nanaimo-Vancouver.

Hostesses aboard were the chief stewardess, Miss Georgena Bacon of Victoria, 2½ years with PWA, and comparative newcomer Miss E. J. Coward, of Sidney, a former TCA employee.

Miss Bacon, a vivacious redhead, supervises eight girls in the line. She's held a private pilot's licence for more than seven years.

PWA passenger facilities at all airports is tops.

A new DC3, 32-passenger craft will go into service on the Victoria route as soon as delivered. One DC3 will be used for the present service with another standing by in Vancouver.

Sometimes pheasants get too close to the jets, officials said. They then become a sort of pheasant under gas.

CENTRAL JUNIOR HIGH grade 7 pupil Billy Atkinson of 3452 Bethune has been chosen by the Times to honor as "salesman of the week." Victoria-born Billy aged 12, makes $40 monthly selling papers at his sales location, Johnson near Douglas. He has a personal bank account. Billy's hobby is stamp collecting and he enjoys basketball and baseball, belonging to the First United Basketball Club.

Commissioner Quits To Try Police Work

Esquimalt police commissioner Frank J. Mitchell, 1303 Lyall, has resigned his post to apply for a job as rookie patrolman.

The commission vacancy will be sought by Donald L. Douglas, 45, 1338 Wood, business agent for Shipwrights, Joiners' and Caulkers' Industrial Union local 9 (CIO-CCL.)

A former member of the Legislature, Mr. Mitchell, 30, at 25 was the youngest MLA ever to be elected to the B.C. House when he won an Esquimalt by-election in 1951. Re-elected in the 1952 provincial election, he was defeated the following year.

He is also a trade unionist and vice-president of Operative Plasterers' and Cement Masons' International Association local 450 (AFL-TLC.)

FATHER, TOO

Second member of the family to serve as Esquimalt police commissioner, Mr. Mitchell's father, J. D. Mitchell, died while in office.

Mr. Douglas, a resident of Victoria 11 years, and the last four in Esquimalt, has long been interested in community affairs. He said he would file nomination papers for the empty seat as soon as possible.

Connected with local athletics for the past 15 years, he was coach of Oak Bay Drakes football team last year and was coach of Whitney's when they won a city championship in 1949. He has also coached VMD teams and is now an officer of Victoria Cycling Club.

If his nomination is unopposed he will be elected for the balance of the year without necessity of a by-election.

PARTY MORALE HIGH

Drew Back in Saddle At Tory Convention

OTTAWA (BUP)—Conservatives today milled around the Chateau Laurier hotel in the opening phases of a three-day meeting which will mingle the traditional secret conference in smoke-filled bedrooms with formal consideration of party policy and organization.

It is the first top-level gathering the Conservatives have held in two years. The high morale of party workers as they streamed into the capital reflected by-election successes of recent months in formerly Liberal strongholds — notably Toronto-Spadina in Ontario and Restigouche-Madawaska in New Brunswick.

The atmosphere of confidence was especially noticeable in the absence this year of any undercurrent of criticism of the George Drew leadership. The last meeting two years ago was held against a background of British Columbia revolt and a definite lack of enthusiasm for the Drew leadership in an important faction of the party. But today's meeting revealed party lines were closed solidly behind Drew.

Drew's successes at Parliament's last session in battling the government's emergency powers bill, together with the by-election victories during the recess, are credited with not only silencing his critics, but also with winning them over to his support.

BALCER TO SUCCEED HEES

Before the party adjourns on Wednesday night it will elect a new set of officers for the Progressive Conservative Association and the Young Progressive Conservative Association. Balloting for all these offices is expected to be mainly routine since George Hees, member of Parliament for Toronto-Broadview, has announced that he doesn't intend to contest another term as national president.

Hees' successor is expected to be Leon Balcer, MP for Three Rivers.

600 Liberals To Fete Three Top Leaders

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Liberal party's three ace front-line warriors will be feted at a 600-guest dinner Wednesday night.

The gala dinner will be a party salute to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, Trade and Commerce Minister Clarence Decatur Howe and Agriculture James Garfield Gardiner. Liberal senators, members of parliament, party officials and their wives comprise most of the guest list.

For Howe, sometimes dubbed "minister of everything," it will be an extra special occasion. He celebrated his 70th birthday Sunday with two of his married daughters and business friends in Montreal.

Party sources said the dinner will honor the triple-threat trio not only for past service. The "old pros" also will be hailed as the party's continuing leadership for the next general election.

12 BEAUTIES NOMINATED

Campus Queen Vote Feb. 8 at College

BY BARBARA SANSON
Times College Correspondent

Crowning of the campus queen tops a varied list of extra-curricular activities planned at Victoria College in the near future.

The event takes place at a co-ed dance early in February and 12 beauties have been nominated already. Voting takes place February 8.

Following are the nominees:

Margot Thomson, Barbara Salonen, Myrna Hunter, Rita Leong, Marilyn Cann, Barbara Jenkins, Anne Deakin, Betty Lou Hemingson, Susan Cree, Hilary Hale, Heather Manson and Joan Sutherland.

To be elected at the same dance are International Lover, Cafeteria Queen and the Most Loving Couple.

SPORTS

Paramount in the sports calendar is the badminton tournament, which starts Jan. 18. The entry is large and keen competition is promised in all four sections, singles, girls' doubles, boys' doubles and mixed doubles.

Guest speakers and students' debates are scheduled by most college clubs.

The student Christian Movement will present a series of lectures by Canon E. M. Tomlin of St. Matthias' Church.

Next month the club will sponsor addresses by several other Victoria ministers on church doctrine and the attitude to Holy Communion.

Campus radio station CJVC is presenting varied and appealing programs and keeping students up to date on important news. In the near future the station plans a ceremony when Fred Usher and Hugh Curtis of CJVI will present a tape recorder.

Ottawa Sets a Figure

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT apparently has made a formal taxation offer to the provinces. A formula known as Plan C, fully explained here already, remains virtually unchanged.

Under it the provincial governments are free to collect any personal income, corporation and inheritance taxes they desire, once their present agreements with Ottawa expire in 1957. There legally can be no restriction whatever on provincial collections.

But to avoid duplication of federal and provincial taxes so far as possible, the national Government will exempt provincial taxpayers from part of their federal tax bills. Thus in any province accepting the new arrangement the taxpayers will be excused from 10 per cent of their federal income tax, 9 per cent of their corporation tax and 50 per cent of their succession duties.

The provinces will collect their own taxes in these fields (through the federal collecting agency, if they desire) and there will be no double taxes on the same income if the formula is accepted. If a province refuses to accept the formula and taxes above these levels then, of course, the taxpayer must pay two taxes.

These proposals, submitted to the provinces last autumn, and now confirmed by Mr. St. Laurent, have been altered insignificantly. The exemption level for the corporation tax is increased from 8½ to 9 per cent. Evidently the Federal Government has gone as far as it thinks possible in concessions to the provinces.

Oddly enough, it is the Government of British Columbia, one of the two richest provinces, which objects most to Plan C.

Though he is enjoying a huge revenue surplus and planning probably the largest budget, per capita, in the nation's history, Mr. Bennett calls the Federal Government's offer "unrealistic." He demands an exemption of 20 per cent in the case of the income tax but does not bother to point out that the cost involved in this loss of federal revenues would be borne by the taxpayers of the whole nation, British Columbians among them. The theory that costs can be escaped if they are handed on to some fairy grandmother in Ottawa dies hard in Victoria.

Mr. Bennett is not bound to accept Plan C or any fixed level of taxes. He can impose any rate whatever on income, corporation profits and estates. If he goes beyond the exemption levels of Plan C, however, British Columbians will pay double taxes on part of their incomes. It seems unlikely that a provincial Government with unprecedented revenues and surpluses will dare to impose this additional burden on the British Columbia taxpayers.

Mr. St. Laurent's latest letter to the provinces should dispose once and for all of the absurd notion that the Federal Government is treating the provinces differently and somehow contriving special advantages for Quebec. Every province is treated exactly the same, both in the exemption formula and in the equalization grants to be paid by Ottawa.

Quebec's grants under the new formula show a large increase, of course, simply because in the past that province has refused to accept Ottawa's assistance. If it agrees to do so now its position will be greatly improved but will be the same as that of all the other provinces.

The equalization grants are designed to assure the poorer provinces of a minimum revenue. If their own collections from income, corporation and estate taxes fall below that level, Ottawa will make up the difference. The level is based on tax collections in the two richest provinces, Ontario and British Columbia.

In any case, no province will receive from Ottawa less money in subsidies than it receives this year under the existing tax agreements. Hence there can be no loss of revenue to anybody.

British Columbia, however, loses a special advantage granted to it, wisely or unwisely, some years ago. It is placed on the same basis as other provinces. Hence while losing nothing, British Columbia will not gain as much extra revenue from Ottawa as it would have gained if the existing agreements continued and if the nation's total wealth continued to grow. On the other hand, it is absolutely protected from a fall in federal subsidies even if the nation's income and the Federal Government's revenues decline.

On the whole Plan C appears to be a reasonable arrangement and most provinces, no doubt, will accept it. The British Columbia Government must accept or reject it during the present year.

A Newspaper's Credo

ONE OF THE LATEST MANIfestations of Red-hunting in the United States has been the activities of a Senate subcommittee under Senator James Eastland which is investigating possible subversive infiltration of the press.

It may well be that in some cases the communists have sought to place agents and sympathizers in jobs in United States newspapers where they can further their Marxist aims. If so, it is well that the fact should be made public, so that readers may know what influences are being brought to bear on their news and editorial fare.

But it is quite another thing that a journal should be subjected to particular attention from the subcommittee for an ulterior purpose. The New York Times suspects that this is what has occurred. In an editorial last week the eminent American newspaper notes that its employees seem to have been subjected to more than usual scrutiny by the subcommittee.

The editorial continues:

"It seems to us to be a further obvious conclusion that The Times has been singled out for this attack precisely because of the vigor of its opposition to many of the things for which Mr. Eastland, his colleague Mr. Jenner and the subcommittee's counsel stand—that is, because we have condemned segregation in the Southern schools; because we have challenged the high-handed and abusive methods employed by various Congressional committees; because we have denounced McCarthyism and all its works; because we have attacked the narrow and bigoted restrictions of the McCarran Immigration Act; because we have criticized a 'security system' which conceals the accuser from his victim; because we have insisted that the true spirit of American democracy demands a scrupulous respect for the rights of even the lowliest individual and a high standard of fair play.

"If this is the tactic of any member of the Eastland subcommittee, and if further evidence reveals that the real purpose of the present inquiry is to demonstrate that a free newspaper's policies can be swayed by Congressional pressure, then we say to Mr. Eastland and his counsel that they are wasting their time.

"This newspaper will continue to determine its own policies. It will continue to condemn discrimination, whether in the South or in the North. It will continue to defend civil liberties. It will continue to challenge the unbridled power of governmental authority. It will continue to enlist goodwill against prejudice and confidence against fear.

"We cannot speak unequivocally for the long future. But we can have faith. And our faith is strong that long after Senator Eastland and his present subcommittee are forgotten, long after segregation has lost its final battle in the South, long after all that was known as McCarthyism is a dim, unwelcome memory, long after the last Congressional committee has learned that it cannot tamper successfully with a free press, The New York Times will still be speaking for the men who make it, and only for the men who make it, and speaking, without fear or favor, the truth as it sees it."

Preparing a Farewell?

THE PROPOSAL IN THE SOUTH African Parliament to abolish "God Save the Queen" as the national anthem and abandon the Union Jack as the official flag will be deplored in the rest of the Commonwealth as a further evidence of the union's severing of ties.

For most Commonwealth citizens, however, such concrete acts will add little to the more important steps that have already been taken by South Africa's Government. The policy of apartheid (the strict segregation of whites and blacks), the relegation of the colored population to a status of second-class citizenship through manipulation of voting rights, the "packing" of the Senate in order to secure a majority to carry out their policies of discrimination, the occasional remarks of Governmental leaders derogatory to the Commonwealth and the Throne—such occurrences have been a far more effective indication of South Africa's trend than formal disavowals.

South Africa, at least through its Government's actions over the past few years, has shown itself in several important respects to be out of step with Commonweath ideals and principles; out of harmony, indeed, with some of the major motivations of the twentieth century.

It would be a sad event if the union were to break its connections with the Commonwealth. But if the spirit had already departed there would be little real loss when the body followed.

BY DAVID BROCK

WRITING in Saturday Night of Jan. 7, Robertson Davies was deploring the bad style of most books today. He wasn't asking for style in any wrong and gilded sense, but in the real sense of saying a thing as well as possible. This is a sloppy age and I believe our sloppiness is reflected in our writing. By sloppy I mean all sorts of things, including careless, clumsy, irresponsible, untrained, undisciplined, graceless, ugly, lazy, slouchy, discourteous, heavy, thoughtless, uncontrolled, half-dead, weedy, and spilling out all over the table and onto the floor. Very like the worst sort of children's party. Perhaps Mr. Davies would not go this full distance with me, but I am sure we agree in the main.

Brock

Taking a few examples from the books of 1955, Mr. Davies mentions two very amateur works and two supposedly professional ones, and for various reasons finds them all unreadable. And in the end it all boils down to the same reason: bad writing. The two professionals, whom he chooses at random as being only too typical of dozens of others, are self-indulgent in their wordiness. Their books ramble on and on and on, and are thus anything but works of art. (He is referring to the latest novels of H. Wouk and T. B. Costain, two novelists I have denied myself the luxury of reading.)

THE two amateurs, also chosen quite at random, are Guthrie McClintic, husband of the actress Katherine Cornell, and the late Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery. The very title of McClintic's book, "Me and Kit," as Mr. Davies points out, reveals a horrible cuteness and coyness . . . a cuteness assumed to be a nice way of being literary. Folksy. Incidentally, the whole world of writing, from preaching to advertising, is getting so folksy that I for one can endure it no more. You think we have reached the limit of folksy, palsy-walsy, come-in-gang writing? Little do you know. It has barely begun. And one of the worst things about the whole disgusting fashion is that it is called "racy" and "earthy", two absolute lies. To get down to an angel chiffon pie in somebody's angel chiffon kitchen is not to get down to earth. On the contrary.

As for the late Mr. Amery, he was a great and good man, and he had important things to say, but his autobiography is so stuffed with pompous and windy verbiage, you would think him merely a stuffed shirt. Mr. Davies goes wrong on one point, however. He assumed, quite naturally, that Mr. Amery affected this senatorial style for the purpose of writing books. Alas, no.

I ONCE saw a letter Mr. Amery wrote to a very old friend, and it was written in the same style exactly. I was only 18 or so at the time, but I burst into roars of laughter over the letter, and went round quoting it for days, much to the public anger but secret amusement of Mr. Amery's old friend.

The letter was to introduce the son of one of Mr. Amery's colleagues, and it ended: "He is a member of that great profession, the Law." Meaning "he is a lawyer." Now, one reason politicians talk like that is to give themselves time to "think on their feet." But to let such talk get into a private letter to an old friend . . . it makes one's blood run cold, and one's prose too.

Of course it wasn't merely the prose that killed me with laughter. I was deeply interested in the suggestion that to become a lawyer is automatically to turn yourself into something pretty good. It was just as absurd as if he had written "I am a member of that great profession, politics." Or as if a reviewer had started off with "Our author is a member of that great profession, writing." But it was mainly the prose that curled me up.

I WANNA BE A WRITER

THERE was one little item in Mr. Davies' thoughtful article which made me pause and go back a line or two to see if he'd really said it. He said "The world today is full of amateur writers . . . of people who want to write a book or two because they have something of interest to say." This is not quite true. Such people exist, but the world is by no means full of them. It is far fuller of people who want to be writers and who have nothing to say at all. It is also very full of people who already ARE writers and who have nothing to say. People who go the three Japanese monkeys one better . . . the Japanese monkeys see no evil, hear no evil, and speak no evil, but most of the chaps who want to be writers (or are already writers) actually see nothing, hear nothing, and speak less than nothing. And, needless to say, believe nothing.

And so what do we do? Why, we set up schools of creative writing, to enable the young graduates to create something out of nothing. We do much the same thing in other professions, of course. For example, we turn out medical specialists who have had no experience in general practice . . . they can, if they like, start to study as specialists the minute their first interneship is over. (With some very queer results.) But I think the idea of a graduate creative writer who knows nothing but classrooms is the funniest development (so far) of human society.

TIMELESS

IN THAT same Jan. 7 issue of Saturday Night were some memories of great events of 1955. One of these events, it says, was Bannister's smashing of the four-minute mile. Actually, this happened in 1954. (No doubt every sports page in Canada has already spotted this error; but I did spot it on my own.) Am I quibbling? Yes. Does the actual date matter to me? Not a bit. But it does matter to Saturday Night. Saturday Night says this event gave it new hope and courage in 1955.

As Our Readers See It

Hot Rodders Ask for Drag Strip

With reference to articles which appeared in our two local papers, The Daily Times and The Daily Colonist concerning a recent automobile accident:

Two terms were used, to wit, "hot rod" and "souped-up" motor, in a way that tended to twist the true facts out of reasonable proportion. For instance, cars of today in nearly all cases have greater horse power than the "hot rod" referred to in the articles. That car, in fact, is capable of developing 125 horse power at the most, compared with Chevrolet V8 at 162 horse power, Ford at 202 horse power and other larger cars at 300 horse power, and more.

Almost any car on the road today, from small foreign cars to the largest American car, could have done what that car did, with equally disastrous results.

A common definition of a hot-rodder is any fool who drives with wild abandon and is careless of the safety of others. In truth, a more correct definition would be a person who owns a car exactly like many others on the road today, but who improves his machine to achieve maximum performance, efficiency and economy. The facts must be made clear that all attention on this type of car is not put on the motor, but rather that every part, brakes, steering, etc., receive equal attention.

Two errors appeared in these articles, to the effect that the car was running on three carbs and that the motor was built by the youth himself. In the first case, the car was only running on two carbs, like many modern cars (ex. four throat carbs) one being disconnected. In the second case, the motor was not built by the owner, but rather by another city youth.

To date all dealings with the younger motorists have been in the form of fines, licence suspensions, and prison terms. Why is there no place for these motorage enthusiasts to test their equipment under proper supervision?

Would it not be better if drinking, illegal racing and idle time were replaced by legal racing and co-operation with the police? All efforts so far on behalf of the younger generation have been quashed in the bud.

Now, a trial unofficial club, headed by Daryl Foster, has been formed, the purpose of which is to get the kids off the street and onto a safe place to test their equipment. Building "timing traps" is the most reasonable, cheap, logical and intelligent way of approaching the subject.

Timing traps, commonly referred to as drag strips, flourish in the States and are also in use in Vancouver and Port Alberni. The Port Alberni strip is under the guidance of the local RCMP, and many others are guided by local police, and all are run with police and public support.

Club members who violate traffic regulations are expelled or restricted by the club. Why cannot this be done here?

The police forces of the four municipalities and the Colwood RCMP have been approached on the subject. Cpl. Shepherd, commanding officer of the RCMP at Colwood, offered his full assistance, with particular attention to safety education. Assistant Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson stated that he would give all possible help he could in the development of a project of this kind.

Oak Bay Police Chief Reston gave an encouraging though non-committal answer to a recent phone conversation. Approval was also voiced by Victoria Chief Blackstock during a half hour interview. Esquimalt Police Chief Stancombe would make no definite statement at the time he was called. Saanich Police Chief Bull refused to discuss the subject with us.

This is not an appeal for aid, neither financial nor in the form of gifts or grants, but an appeal will be made!

Dilemma of the Democrats

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

THE Democrats are beginning to feel rather like the butt of the classic old swimming hole joke. While they have been happily disporting themselves in the water, shouting merrily to each other about the fine prospects for 1956, the Republican administration has seatithily made off with all their clothes. The administration, in short, has done a downright brilliant job of absorbing every major Democratic issue. Consider a typical sampling:

Joseph

Farm Issue. This was to be, of course, the Democrats' biggest single issue for 1956. Until very recently, the Democratic dream of the future was clear. They would pass a farm bill restoring fixed 90 per cent of parity, and giving the farmers all sorts of other goodies, like special "soil banks" payments for keeping their land out of production. The President would veto this bill, and the Republican goose would thus be cooked to a turn.

It may work out that way. The farm issue is certainly still the most dangerous the administration faces. But the administration has taken over the soil bank idea, and other ideas first advanced by the Democrats—Sen. Hubert Humphrey, principal Democratic farm policy idea man, complains loudly that "They're stealing my babies."

TRUMP CARD

Moreover, the administration is playing its trump card on the farm issue—President Eisenhower. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson is political poison in the farm areas. But the President himself is still immensely popular with the farmers.

The administration plan now is to have the President move front and centre on the farm issue, selling the administration program, and above all persuading the farmers that the Democrats' fixed support program will pile up higher surpluses and depress prices still further.

A nationwide presidential telecast devoted entirely to the farm issue is being seriously considered. And there are signs of doubtfulness already among several Democrats about the vote-getting potentialities of high fixed parity.

Taxes. The administration has the Democrats nicely boxed in on the tax issue. The President has sternly said that a balanced budget and debt reduction must come before any tax relief. The Democrats strongly suspect a plot.

They suspect that, along about June, there will be a jubilant announcement from the Treasury—that due to brilliant economic management, a surplus, perhaps as high as $4,000,000,000, is in sight for the 1957 budget. Therefore the voters will be pleased to hear, a balanced budget, debt reduction, and a nice dollop of tax reduction too will all be possible.

The suspicion that this is what the administration is up to amounts to a firm conviction among many shrewd Democrats. But what are they to do? If they try to beat the gun with tax reduction now, they will be accused of fiscal irresponsibility and unbalancing the budget. As a practical matter, moreover, any considerable tax reduction for the "little fellow" could only be compensated for if the oil depletion tax allowance loophole were closed. It is enough to point out that the Democratic leaders of both Houses come from Texas.

WINNING ISSUE

Education. Here again, the Democrats thought they had a winning issue for 1956, and in the House they have ready a big school construction bill. But here again the administration is ready to box them in with its $1,250,000,000 school program.

On this issue, moreover, the Democrats are in a peculiarly frustrating position, since one of their number, Adam Clayton Powell of New York, is prepared to introduce an anti-segregation amendment which would almost certainly kill the bill.

And so it goes. The road construction and social security issues have been largely absorbed in the same way. Democrats like Senators Walter George and Richard Russell are angry about the foreign aid budget, but the Democrats certainly cannot win the election by cutting the living daylights out of the foreign aid program. On other issues, like natural gas, the Democrats are bitterly divided among themselves. It is impossible, of course, to predict what issues time and the course of events will produce. Let the Communist bloc make an aggressive move—an attack on the Chinese offshore islands, for example—and the now dormant defence and foreign policy issues will dominate this election year. But for the moment, by the simple expedient of adopting large hunks of the Democratic program, the administration has reduced the Democrats to shouting, "me too, but more so."

Candidate for Low Man

From The Winnipeg Free Press

FROM one of the least known parts of this unknown country—Victoria, B.C.—comes news that its citizens are being asked to subscribe $4,500 so that they may be the proud possessors of the tallest totem pole in the world.

Behind the appeal is one of the city's newspapers which, last year, confined its promotional projects to persuading people to swim away from the city in the general direction of Port Angeles, Wash.

That Victorians, of all people, should succumb to the modern fetish of bigness, comes as a bit of a shock to other Canadians.

Hitherto (at least if the despatches sent out from time to time by Mr. Bruce Hutchison are to be believed) they have passed their days happily pottering about their violet-filled gardens, watching seagulls, pruning apple trees and hewing wood.

Now, alas, they appear to have been caught up in the mad rush of civilization and must have a totem pole that will be 14 feet taller than the one in the Ontario museum in Toronto.

A totem pole, as even inland dwellers are aware, is a tall cedar pole on which are carved representations of the tutelary spirits of the tribe. It will be interesting to see which of Victoria's guardian spirits are honored on the 100-foot pole.

There will, of course, be historical figures, of which the island has no dearth.

If there is an animal spirit, it surely must be that of Caddie, the city's foremost if most elusive (illusive?) tourist attraction. In the ornithological line, the skylarks of Saanich will qualify.

It is difficult to see how the axe-wielding Mr. Hutchison [editor of The Victoria Times and] the community's unofficial public relations officer, can be omitted.

And certainly, inasmuch as the sponsor is the Victoria Daily Times, Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett should be a cinch as low man on the totem pole.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

Anthology

I SOMETIMES think that if this house caught fire, the one possession that I'd really try to save would be a fat reddish book called "An Inheritance of Poetry."

It's an anthology collected and arranged by Gladys L. Adshead and Annis Duff, and published by Houghton Mifflin Company in 1948.

It is, I think, a beauty. It should, I'm sure, be in any home where parents want children to grow up loving poetry.

Ruth

I know that teachers of English literature find it invaluable. (In fact, I loaned it to a teacher friend, and it took me a year of coaxing, cursing and downright rudeness to get it back again!)

There are poems in it that would do for nearly any age, but, generally speaking, it can be used for Grade 6 and up.

Those of us who were brought up strictly on the classics and on "The Oxford Book of English Poetry" will find many poems that we know. But this book also includes poems by contemporary writers, English and American.

* * *

I especially love one poem by Jan Struther, and there are five by Elisabeth Coatsworth, of which my favorite is:

"What is once loved
You will find
Is always yours
From that day,
Take it home
In your mind
And nothing ever
Can take it away."

Equally short and simple is her poem, "Violets, Daffodils":

"Violets, Daffodils,
Roses and thorn
Were all in the garden
Before you were born.
Daffodils, violets,
Green thorn and roses
Your grandchildren's children
Will hold to their noses."

(And who says poetry doesn't stretch the imagination and widen the horizons?)

I'm sure that many of the horse-loving young would be delighted by Marion Canby's "Connecticut Rondel":

"He shakes his mane upon the breeze
And gallops through the grasses;
He does not like the encircling trees—
He likes to see what passes.

He trots along much at his ease
And snatches as he passes,
Then shakes his mane upon the breeze
And gallops through the grasses."

Oh, it's a lovely book. If I were a literature teacher, I wouldn't be without it. If I were a citizen, wanting to give a book to a school library, or a parent hunting around for a book for an academic prize, I'd buy this one.

"We who were born
In country places
Far from cities
And shifting faces,
We have a birthright
No man can sell,
And a secret joy

And

"Loveliest of trees, the cherry now
Is hung with bloom along the bough,
And stands about the woodland ride
Wearing white for Eastertide."

And

"For lo, the winter is past,
the rain is over and gone,
the flowers appear on the earth;
the time of the singing of birds is come,

Oh, there are times when I envy the young. Fancy the delight of coming upon these for the first time, and feeling the mind and imagination grow!

* * *

I hope I never get so dull and old that I can't be thrilled by a lovely book.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Left-Handed Children

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation

According to Dr. Norma V. Schiedeman, of the University of California at Los Angeles, the left-handed child can be helped if his parents will start early to teach him to scribble from left to right, and to make with his pencil or crayon clockwise rotary movements. With the mother's hand guiding his, he can be taught to make sweeping strokes and large loops from the left edge of the paper to the right. Later, he can learn to make smaller loops and rings of this type.

Dr. Alvarez

Dr. Schiedeman is satisfied that if parents will do this sort of thing, the child on reaching school, will not be so overwhelmed with the problem of writing. He will be prepared for making the left-to-right movements.

CHILDREN WHO CAN'T READ

In regard to children who have great difficulty in reading, I just received an interesting letter from Dr. Joseph E. McClelland, a pediatrician of Cleveland, who examines school children. He says he has found that much of the difficulty in reading and writing found in some children is associated with the fact that they are mixed-up on their right-handedness or left-handedness. The doctor says, "First, I ask the mother if the child is right-handed or left-handed, or if there is a tendency in the family for persons to use both hands. Next, I look at the child's head to see where the crown is. In a right-handed child the crown is usually on the left — and vice versa. Occasionally I encounter a double crown. This almost always connotes a mixed laterality. Then I make tests to see if the child is right or left-handed, or right or left-eyed, or right or left-footed.

"In a surprisingly large number of children one finds a mixed laterality. A frequent finding is a right-handed child who is left-eyed or vice versa. Or, the child is right-handed, right-eyed, and left-footed. Then I get the child to write the numbers from one to 10. In cases of mixed laterality several of the numbers will be written backwards. The importance in diagnosing mixed laterality is that the teacher can then know the children who are headed for reading difficulties, especially if they enter a school where reading is taught by the so-called modern picture method.

"If a child has reading difficulty this should be recognized when he is in the first grade."

Whenever the doctor recognizes a child with mixed laterality, he warns the teacher that the youngster should be taught reading by the old-fashioned method in which he will learn the alphabet, and then will learn to spell words syllable by syllable. This sounds sensible to me. One big trouble with our school system — clear up to the senior year in medical school — is that everyone is supposed to be treated in the same way. In medicine, the brilliant student who will be a research worker or an outstanding specialist or a great teacher must get the same training as is given the poor student who will be happy some day with a tiny practice in a village.

Few city dwellers realize how great a toll disease takes of the farmer's animals. Cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens and turkeys are likely to be killed off by the hundred in epidemics of various kinds. I was just reading in Science News Letter that, at the recent meeting of the American Veterinary Medical Association it was reported that today, in spite of every care that can be taken, one out of every three pigs born dies before it is ready for weaning.

In order to keep from "losing his shirt," every raiser of animals must become a pretty good veterinary physician. He must know how to protect his animals with good hygiene, clean ground, clean houses, good clean food, and injections with several antisera. Always he must take great care not to introduce into his farm diseases brought in with new stock he has bought.

A BETTER TREATMENT OF TUBERCULOSIS

Recently, Dr. J. W. Clegg of The Brompton Hospital, London, reported that he was getting excellent results in the treatment of tuberculosis by combining para-aminosalicylic acid with isoniazid. The new compound seems to work very well. For a long time the two drugs have been given together.

WEBSTER WON'T APOLOGIZE

Mind Your Own Business Newsman Tells Speaker

News commentator Jack Webster, of Vancouver radio station CJOR, Sunday refused to apologize to Speaker of the Legislature Tom Irwin, and told the Speaker to "mind your own business."

Mr. Webster made the statement on his program "City Mike" after Mr. Irwin requested a signed letter of apology, withdrawing in its entirety a remark made by the radioman during an interview with Douglas Jung, Conservative candidate in the Vancouver-Centre by-election.

Mr. Jung had stated that Social Credit was trying to implement sound Conservative principles, and Mr. Webster added with Jung's agreement, "you prefer to run under an honest flag."

Mr. Irwin said his office took exception to the remark, and said there was an "imputation of dishonesty on the part of some of the parties in the House." He said this "cannot be tolerated."

In his broadcast last night, Mr. Webster said "political opportunism such as has been displayed by some members of the Social Credit movement is politically dishonest."

"Conservatives who support Social Credit—and there are lots of them, are not, in my opinion, running under an honest flag.

"I have written to the Speaker, telling him I do not feel that my remark capable of the imputations he attached to it" said Mr. Webster.

FREE COUNTRY

"I have also told Irwin that I am advised it is not for the office of the speaker to take exception to anything I say on the air which does not reflect on the Legislature or its proceedings.

"This is a free country. Nothing on earth would make me grovel or withdraw an honest remark made in good faith in an appropriate political connotation."

Mr. Webster reviewed public controversies in which Mr. Irwin has been involved, ranging from his ban on newspaper photographers at one opening day of the House, to a row over beer and wine for the parliamentary dining room.

Mr. Webster closed his broadcast by saying: "I think it's high time Mr. Irwin was reminded that in this country we have freedom of speech and freedom of comment.

"Let me say, with the deference and respect due to the dignified office of the speaker, that he is not entitled to an apology from me, and will not get one."

Mr. Webster told his listeners that in his reply to Mr. Irwin, "I told the speaker, I hope politely, to mind his own business."

Annual Meeting of Shareholders

The Royal Bank of Canada

James Muir warns against pace of consumer buying and tightness of markets in commodities and labor

Canada can ill afford luxury of group or sectional parochialism. Diverse climates, cultures and economic interests present opportunities as well as problems in achieving national unity.

Some of the more pressing problems confronting Canada in 1956 were reviewed by James Muir, Chairman and President of the Royal Bank of Canada, in his annual address at the Annual Meeting of Shareholders held on Jan. 12 at Head Office. One of the more important of these he felt was the new inflationary pressure built up during the boom which characterized 1955. While admitting there may be some difference of opinion on the seriousness of the threat posed by the boom, he believed there "are definate danger signs, not so much in prices as in the frantic pace of consumer buying, business expansion, and the general tightness of markets in both commodities and labour.

No modern banker will deny the efficacy of wise central bank policy in curbing inflation," he said. "Indeed experience shows that monetary policy is more effective against inflation than against deflation. But there are dangers. As I have already pointed out, the policy may go too far. It may also be unselective, curbing healthy as well as unhealthy or excessive bank credit. In addition, certain types of credit, and these by no means the least inflationary, lie almost entirely outside the chartered banking system. I should like to nominate two candidates and possibly three for the attention of those charged with devising and administering credit control on a selective basis: consumer credit; term loans by banks; and (with caution) mortgage credit.

PROBLEMS OF CREDIT

"Consumer credit, or 'buying on time' is an essential part of our modern economy. But, like all good things, it can be carried to extremes. For the individual, to live in bondage; and burden of debt is usually the greatest for those who can afford it least: viz., those who need or are attracted by 'no down payment' offers. For the economy as a whole, consumer credit results in the production and sale of durable goods (a form of long-term investment by the consumer) without at the same time a corresponding act of saving. There need be no harm in this provided the consumer loan is itself financed out of saving—the consumer then borrows in order to spread his own saving over time. But if a great rise in consumer loans is financed through bank credit expansion we have an expansion not of short-term, self-liquidating credit but a long-term loan paid back only over a long period, and a consequent expansion of the money supply.

"Term loans by banks to corporations and the purchase by banks of corporate serial bond issues are similar in effect to an expansion of bank-financed consumer credit, and may be more serious in that the repayment period may be longer.

"Mortgage loans by banks are a departure from traditional short-term bank financing. Long-term investment, this time in a home, is financed without a corresponding act of saving. As a device for expanding home owning during a period of relatively slack trade, the NHA programme had many virtues. But with a return to normal conditions, and later with a reappearance of inflationary pressure continued mortgage lending banks, together with the other inflationary forces, undoubtedly made a contribution to instability in the economy."

Mr. Muir noted that the three varieties of credit over-expansion might soon become less serious, due to natural causes and to the effect of policies now in force. Home building and construction in general would be effected by seasonal factors; term loans by banks and the purchase of corporate securities were no longer practicable under present monetary policy; and "control of consumer credit does not lie primarily in the field of banking. War and post-war experience have shown that this can be most effectively handled by regulation at the retail level, with good will and co-operation between those who extend the credit and the control authorities. There should be nothing, therefore, in these three varieties of credit over-extension that a common-sense, restraint, and co-operation cannot quickly cure."

NEW "BUILT-IN STABILIZER" FOR FUTURE BUDGETS

"In all the excitment over the switch to deficit financing," said Mr. Muir, "one extremely important decision in the realm of fiscal policy went almost unnoticed by the general public. This decision is all the more important because, unless or until reversed, it will presumably determine the overall pattern of federal budgeting for years to come.

"In his budget speech of April 5, 1955, the Minister of Finance said:

'I propose to recommend to the house a tax policy and a tax structure that would produce a balanced budget under conditions which represent a high level of output and employment.'

"Now a high level of output and employment is reflected in the figure that measures the gross value of our national production over the year. The new tax policy and tax structure referred to by the Minister of Finance is geared to this gross national product in such a way that if in any year the product falls below a certain ideal level, there will be an automatic budget deficit. If the national product rises above this level, there will be an automatic surplus. And the ideal level of gross national product is apparently defined as the level that would have obtained had employment and the rate of growth of the economy been "normal" every year since the base year 1953. It may be open to question whether this kind of built-in stabilizer will prove sufficiently strong to produce the desired effect. It may prove too passive to meet the crises that lie ahead. It may well be that the automatic principle was adopted as a device to ensure that fiscal policy would at least not make things worse: that it would at least be a neutral factor in the short run. Meanwhile, monetary policy with its greatly superior flexibility could be relied upon to take care of short swings in business activity and employment, leaving longer run problems of economic development and growth to the necessarily slower adjustments through annual revisions of the budget."

Total Deposits have now passed $3 billion mark

K. M. Sedgwick, General Manager, noted that not only had the assets of the Royal Bank reached the imposing total of $3,284,143,865, but that deposits had passed the $3 billion mark, a new high point in Canadian banking history. "Ten years ago our deposits were $1,888,757,074, approximately 61% of today's figure, whereas then our deposits numbered 1,555,359 as compared with 2,557,909 at the present time." The bank's liquid position, he noted, continued strong, total quick assets of $1,918,749,579 representing 61.24% of the bank's liabilities to the public. "Our Rest Account has been increased to $108,000,000 which with paid-up Capital of $42,000,000 and the undivided profits balance of $918,000 odd means that the bank now has at use Capital funds of close to $151,000,000. This is a very strong position indeed."

Mr. Sedgwick noted that NHA Mortgage Loans, made by the Royal Bank, now total $100,865,965 as compared with $22,672,390 the year before. "Other current loans also have shown expansion in line with the higher general business activity and the total at $1,168,359,855 shows an increase of more than $137,000,000 in the twelve-month period under review. We are now, in common with the other banks, co-operating with the Government and the Bank of Canada in carrying out the policy of credit restriction designed to prevent inflationary pressures. It is important that the timing of any variation in such policy should coincide accurately with changing conditions within the economy."

Mr. Sedgwick also discussed the bank's extensive building and renovation programme. In addition to alterations and improvements to existing premises, 39 new branches were opened in Canada in 1955 and 23 new buildings, for opening this year or later are under construction. Branches now total 851, of which 74 are abroad.

ROYAL BANK ABROAD

The bank will also occupy new and more commodious premises in Rio de Janeiro shortly and consideration in the Caribbean area. Since the bank began operations abroad nearly 50 years ago, said Mr. Sedgwick, the local staff had been encouraged to aspire to senior positions and this, he felt, had been a major factor in the success of the bank's foreign operations. There was, he said, a need for Canadians in the bank's foreign service and as a consequence splendid opportunities existed in the Royal Bank's foreign branches for any Canadian young man interested in a satisfying and successful career in international banking. Mr. Sedgwick paid a high tribute to the bank's staff, which now numbers well over 14,500. "We are very pleased indeed to see a growing number of young men join our staff and feel that they have attractive opportunities ahead", said Mr. Sedgwick.

CANADIAN UNITY

While sound economic policy was a factor in achieving national unity and well being, said Mr. Muir, the development of a broad national outlook and the avoidance of regional and cultural parochialism were also of paramount importance. "The very diversity of regional, cultural, and occupational interests in Canada that creates and aggravates our problem makes unity an even richer prize than would otherwise be the case," he concluded. "Ours will be a unity in diversity with the attendant opportunity to take fullest advantage of the division of labour, itself a product of diversity in culture, in individual talent and skill, in group interest and activity. I firmly believe that this difficult task can be accomplished."

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

DISTRICT NOTES: The Cub Packs preparing special table centres for the annual dinner should let district headquarters know as soon as possible. Leaders, don't forget the tickets for the dinner are available now.

★ ★ ★

ROVER THUMBSTICK council met Friday evening in the Fairfield Den. Service projects were looked into and it was decided to carry on with showing of films to hospitals and rest homes. Rovers were reminded about the Canadian Rover Moot to be held in the Maritimes this September and to check and see if any want to attend.

★ ★ ★

THIRD VICTORIA TROOP at its regular meeting on Friday evening made arrangements to hold an investiture of four recruits at the next meeting. The boys will receive their "Leaping Wolf" badge at the same time.

★ ★ ★

CHINESE TROOP held a "mixed grill" meeting Friday evening—stave drill, first aid, signalling, knotting, and games. On Sunday they went to the Beaver Lake area for an expedition. Fire lighting and cooking (in the rain), tracking, axemanship and a cross-country compass hike were conducted. There was a 99% turnout, which is good work on the part of the patrol leaders. A number of the scouts have completed their second class requirements and will be presented with their badge at the next meeting.

FAIRFIELD "B" PACK held a Sixers and Seconds' council on Saturday, when instruction in handicraft was given by the leaders.

★ ★ ★

DUNSMUIR TROOP, under the leadership of Scouter Harold Harrison, conducted a bottle drive on Saturday. Funds derived from this will be used for troop activities.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of The American Peoples Encyclopedia to William Payton, aged 11, of Orangeburg, South Carolina, for his question:

Who Discovered How to Make Quinine?

The Countess Chincon was sick of a fever. From time to time it abated. Then, for no known reason, the poor lady was sick again. Her body was wracked by turns with shivering cold and raging fever. The Countess had fallen prey to an illness that attacked many Europeans who braved life in the tropics. She had malaria. And no one knew then, in the 17th century, that she had got the sickness from a mosquito bite.

The husband of the Countess, Count Chincon, was the Spanish Viceroy in Peru. Naturally, everything was done to help the wife of such an important personage. All remedies were tried. In 1640, the Spanish in South America had discovered a bitter brew from a certain tree. The medicine was called quechua — pronounced ketchwa. Since Quechua was the name of highly civilized tribe of Indians, it is not likely that the Spanish were the first to discover this medicine. It is possible that the Quechua Indians had been using it for years.

At any rate, medicine made from the bark of this certain tree was given to the ailing Countess. She recovered. News of her recovery spread throughout the world. A new medicine to cure malaria fevers had been discovered. The tree, a native of Brazil, was named cinchona in honor of the Count and his lucky Countess.

The cinchona tree is a large one. It has foliage rather like the leaves of an ash tree. It wears spiked clusters of blossoms, each little flower five-pointed like a star. The demand for the new medicine grew throughout Europe and wherever white men suffered from the fevers of malaria. The cinchona trees of Brazil were stripped of their bark. The powdered bark was shipped around the world.

Soon the precious cinchona trees became scarce. For no one thought of planting new ones. The Dutch, however, were smart. They took roots and cuttings of cinchona trees to their territories in the East Indies. The precious trees flourished in the friendly climate. By World War 11, most of world's supply of quinine was coming from Java.

In 1942, another blow was struck at the sufferers of malaria. Japan took Java and the cinchona plantations of the East Indies. The supply of quinine was lost, at least to the Allies. It was now up to the chemists to copy the magic drug. Of course they did it. They did it in less than two years of work and reserch.

In 1944, the chemists of Harvard University announced that they could put together the magic alkaloid molecules that make quinine. The raw materials they used? Good old cheap, reliable coal tar. This wonderful raw material is the by-product of coal from which hundreds of vital substances have been made.

Andy sends a years subscription to Treasure Trails to Clyde Rogers, aged 10, of Williamsport, Penn. for his question:

Most webs are spun by lady spiders. And, yes, the lady can get caught in her own web. But she doesn't. The spider is a smart old lady, far, far to smart to get stuck in her own booby trap. She manages to keep herself free by spinning her web of different kinds of thread. Some threads are sticky, some are not.

The poor fly has never learned this secret of the spider. He bumps into the filmy net and gets all stuck up with the sticky threads.

Generally, the cross pieces that make a spider web are made of smooth, non-sticky thread. The goo is plastered onto the round-about threads. When the spider runs over her web she never takes a wrong step. If she did she would be all stuck up along with the poor fly.

IT'S OFFICIAL NOW, WEDDING IN MONACO

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—A communique from the palace of Prince Rainier III Sunday night sought to make it final and official: The Prince and actress Grace Kelly will be married in Monaco. But the time was still left up in the air.

The communique, signed by Paul Noghes, director of the Prince's personal cabinet, said: "The civil and religious marriage of his serene highness Prince Rainier with Grace Kelly will be celebrated in Monaco."

Vancouver Play Tops Drama Festival

Ian Thorne Wins Director Award

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Little Theatre's production of "Darkness at Noon" Saturday night was judged the best of five plays at the 1956 British Columbia regional drama festival. The award gives the VLT cast the right to represent B.C. in the Dominion Drama Festival at Sherbrooke, Que., May 14-19.

Adjudicator Pamela Stirling of London also said Ian Thorne's direction of the Russian purge of 1937 drama the best of the festival. Robert Clothier was judged top supporting actor for his performance as Luigi, the young man forced to recite false charges against a fallen Soviet Union boss.

Usually an award is made for the best presentation of a drama exclusive of the winning play but Miss Stirling said "nothing else reached the standard" of production of the Sidney Kingsley script based on Arthur Koestler's novel.

Geoffrey Theobald of the White Rock, B.C. Players' Club was named best actor for his witty and whimsical performances as Androcles in Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion."

Best actress chosen was Verlie Cooter of the Vagabonds, New Westminster. Miss Cooter portrayed Juno "beautifully and with great emotion" in Saturday night's final offering, Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock."

WINS COMEDY AWARD

West Vancouver's Little Theatre's "Dark Summer," by Wynyard Browne, was the best presentation of a comedy exclusive of the winning entry. "Liliom," the original story for the Broadway show, "Carousel," performed by the Players' Club Alumni of University of B.C., had the best-designed sets and lighting effects.

Miss Stirling said "Juno and the Paycock" was weak in some comedy scenes and the first act lacked tempo, although all the performers reached a high peak at the climax.

HERE TUESDAY—One of the world's paramount violinists, Joseph Szigeti, appears Tuesday evening at the Royal Theatre. Accompanied by his distinguished pianist, Carlo Bussotti, he will play La Folia by Corelli; Beethoven's Sonato in A Major; Vaughan-Williams Sonata in A Minor and a Bach group.

SRO Tonight In Toronto For Ballet

TORONTO (BUP) — The National Ballet of Canada opens a two-week engagement at the Royal Alexandra Theatre tonight with an almost complete sell-out of tickets and a confidence that is over the rocky hills of poverty.

Its first presentation is the full-length Nutcracker.

Other productions during the next two weeks will be Lady From the Sea adapted from Isben's play of the same name, and old favorites including Swan Lake Lilac Garden and L'apres Midi D'un Faune.

The ballet later will tour 11 cities in the United States, headed by New York, with its biggest goal, Europe in the offing.

A campaign has been started to raise funds to send the troupe to Britain for eight weeks next fall with a possibility of a later tour of the continent.

STAMPS SIGN BACK

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Earl Lunsford, star Oklahoma A and M fullback, has signed to play professional football with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union after he graduates this spring.

Noel's No Coward On Profanity

'Blithe Spirit' Gaily Sweeps Way to Hit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Noel Coward brought his "Blithe Spirit" to television Saturday night with as much profanity as you're likely to hear on TV in a month of Saturdays.

The British show business wizard starred on CBS's 90-minute Ford Star Jubilee in color with Lauren Bacall and Claudette Colbert. This reviewer clocked three "damns" and one "hell."

DEFIES TRADITION

Coward had remarked earlier that he would use the profanity in defiance of usual TV tradition. He had promised one more "hell" but apparently acceded to pressure.

A speech of Miss Colbert's was converted into: "What the devil is going on here?"

"People who object to the profanity in 'Blithe Spirit' are crackpots," Coward told an interviewer, "and Mr. Ford should be happy if even one of them doesn't buy his car. They would be a menace on the highway."

AMUSING SPOOF

Profanity aside, the show was a light and amusing spoof of spiritualism, if not exactly a smash comedy. Coward's dialogue was as crisp as ever but somehow lacking in genuine humor. Most of the laughs went to Mildred Natwick, who was capital in the spiritualist role which she had originated.

Coward was Coward, the supreme expert of the drawing room comedy. He received expert support from the two movie queens, who seemed very much at home in the TV medium.

TONY COMES THROUGH

LOUSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Tony Trabert defeated Pancho Gonzales, 6.0, 9-11, 6-3, Sunday, making it two in a row over his fellow professional tourist for the first time. Gonzales now leads the tour, 12 matches to six.

Ice Capades Loaded With Bouncy Tunes

Ice Capades International opens a four-day engagement at Memorial Arena Tuesday with four evening performances and a Saturday matinee.

It is the first time the show, a sister production to the familiar Ice Cycles, has played here. But due to inter-show switches several of the ice stars are making return visits.

This holds true of headliners Jimmy Lawrence and Margaret Field.

Feature of the show is the musical production "Wish You Were Here." A stage musical loaded with tunes that bounce in your head for days, it was originally centred around a swimming pool.

BIGTIMERS

Co-star in the production is Sandra Culbertson, a Chicago 17-year-old making her first professional tour after five years as an outstanding amateur. She held two top American amateur titles.

Others in the list of bigtimers include world champion Aja Zanova; European champions Silvia and Michel Grandjean; Johnny Lettengarver, U.S. Olympic team member.

The cast of 150 arrives by boat from Seattle Tuesday morning and will spend most of the day settling in local hotels, shopping and working out kinks at the arena.

Crippled Orson Wells Spellbinds Audience

NEW YORK (AP) — Orson Welles turned two bad ankles into a triumph Saturday night. He all but convinced an audience that chromium wheel chairs were commonplace in ancient Britain.

Welles broke his ankle at a preview of a new production of "King Lear" at the New York City Centre, and played the opening night performance Thursday with the ankle in a plaster cast.

After that performance, he stumbled and sprained the other ankle. Friday night ticketholders were given their choice of getting their money back or staying to hear Welles, on a bare stage, recite passages from the play. Only a few hundred out of 2,000 left the theatre.

Saturday night's ticketholders jammed the City Center lobby asking attendants: "Is it 'Lear'?" and "Is it Welles?" They were told it would be both.

ACCORD POLITENESS

At curtain-time a well-filled house heard Welles speak from the dark stage, telling of Lear, "an old man full of troubles," and explaining that this particular Lear had added a few more.

He reminded the audience that Chinese theatre goers traditionally ignore the property man who moves things about during the performance. He asked them to accord the same politeness to his wheelchair.

At his first appearance the audience applauded Welles and his wheelchair, the shiny wheels only half-concealed by his crimson robes and incongruous against the sombre stones of Lear's palace.

Even on the heath at the height of the storm, it no longer seemed incongruous to one viewer — except to wonder if Shakespeare wouldn't have put in a wheelchair for the sick, broken old man if he had had one around.

HAWKS' ROLLINS BALKS AT BUFFALO POSTING

CHICAGO (AP)—Al Rollins, goalie of Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League, said Sunday night he isn't sure if he'll go to the minor leagues.

Rollins said he doesn't think he will report to Buffalo of the American Hockey League but added he still hasn't made up his mind.

Rollins last Friday was reported to have said he'll quit hockey rather than return to the minors.

Rollins last week was replaced by Hank Bassen of Buffalo in a game against Toronto.

"They, the Black Hawks, said I was replaced to give me a rest," said Rollins. "Then they told me to report to Buffalo. I don't think I'll go to Buffalo but I'm not sure what I'll do."

WILL REPRESENT ISLAND

Gutoski Wins Zone Playoff

Tony Gutoski's Victoria rink entered the B.C. Consols curling final here next month by defeating Jack Coates of Parksville, 12-5, Sunday at Port Alberni in the final game of the Vancouver Island zone playoffs.

It will be the second straight year that Gutoski will represent the Island in the B.C. final.

Gutoski and Coates each had identical 5-1 records entering the final game on the 4 p.m. draw Sunday. The final games of the six remaining zone finalists were canceled because they would have no bearing on the final standings.

Two rinks each from Victoria, Nanaimo, Duncan and Victoria traveled to Port Alberni Saturday and Sunday for the round-robin series.

TAYLOR BEATEN

Victoria's other representative, Gar Taylor, didn't fare so well, finishing with a 2-4 won-lost record.

On the final game with Coates, Gutoski took a 2-0 lead after two ends, saw Coates tie it up with singletons in the third and fourth, then went ahead, 6-2, with three in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Coates came back with two in the seventh, but Gutoski picked up singletons in the eighth and ninth to one for Coates in the 10th to lead, 8-5, entering the 11th. Coates finally acknowledged defeat after Gutoski piled up a four-ender in the 11th.

Gutoski started his 6-1 record with a 9-6 defeat of Taylor in the home draw at Victoria Curling Club Thursday. Saturday at Nanaimo, he defeated Harry Spottiswood, Port Alberni, 14-8; Ollie Panzer, Duncan, 12-6, and Bob Fuller, Nanaimo, 10-9.

Sunday morning's draw saw him defeat Glen Harper, Duncan, 14-8, then suffer his only loss in the afternoon at the hands of George Lunn, Nanaimo, 10-9.

Gutoski, with his same rink as last year, Dr. Kirby Moysey, Don Jamieson and Dick Pick, will now await the B.C. Consuls final in Victoria, Feb. 6-11, to be played in conjunction with the 61st B.C. bonspiel.

EIGHT ZONES

He will meet finalists from the other seven zones in the province in a round-robin series. This year, only one rink from each of the eight zones will compete in the final as compared to two rinks last year. Remainder of the zone finalists are expected to be known this week.

Last year, Gutoski came third in his section of the Consols final, won by Reg Stone's rink from Trail in a playoff with Milt Ryalls of Nelson.

This is the second major curling honor won by Gutoski this season. Playing with a pickup rink, Gutoski won a primary event in the $4,000 Grey Cup bonspiel in Vancouver in November, and lost out in a playoff for the grand aggregate to the Campbell rink from Avonlea, Sask., Dominion champions in 1955.

Complete results:
Home Round—Gutoski 9, Taylor 6; Panzer 5, Harper 4; Lunn 12, Fuller 8; Coates 11, Spottiswood, 10.
Saturday, 8.30—Gutoski 14, Spottiswood 8; Coates 16, Taylor 4; Panzer 10, Lunn 8; Harper 9, Fuller 4. 1.00—Gutoski 12, Panzer 6; Taylor 11, Harper 10; Spottiswood 12, Lunn 7; Coates 15, Fuller 5. 4.00—Gutoski 10, Fuller 9; Panzer 12, Coates 5; Spottiswood 13, Harper 3; Lunn 11, Taylor 9.

JBAA Keeps in Touch In Division One Race

The victory put JBAA back to two points behind the league-leading Heaneys.

Saturday, Heaneys nipped Victoria Wests, 4-3, in the first division, and Butlers downed Brodies, 3-2, while Tillicums and Queen's Own Rifles drew 4-4 in second division play.

Ian Holroyd and Bill Bamford with two each and Orie Lebus gave JBAA a 5-0 lead over Esquimalt Sunday before Gordy Duncan netted their first goal.

Frank Greely with two, Arnie Ferguson and Timmy Walker scored for Heaneys Saturday to overcome a 3-0 lead by Wests.

In the second division, Ken Barnes with two and George Wilmont scored for Butlers, while Willie Hamilton netted two for Brodies.

Bobby Mars with two, Lyle Hollingworth and Norm Dickie scored for Tillicums, while Hamish Redford with three and George Gobet scored for QOR.

It Was Mostly Laughs For JC and Trotters

A long, lanky, grinning, strutting, chattering, jumping-jack of a clown prince of basketball gave a packed house of over 2,000 delighted fans a hilarious lesson in court antics Saturday night at Central Junior High School gym.

J. C. Gipson, six feet eight inches high, and every bit a showman, led the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters into Victoria for a one-night stand against the House of David bearded basketball team in their annual pilgrimage here.

The House of David crew proved a bit disappointing, both in the acreage of their well-publicized mat foliage and in their court ability, but the antics of referee-baiting, shambling Gipson and his cohorts more than made up for any deficit.

Showing signs of brilliant basketball, but playing mostly for laughs, such performers as Chico Burrell, who handled a ball as if it were an outgrowth of his fingertips; Honey Taylor, dribbling flawlessly from any position except standing on his head and the all-around wizardry of the rest of the team kept the crowd well supplied with laughter.

Brilliant opening and half time acts put on by tumblers, jugglers and trampoline artists, to name a few, rounded out the fast-paced show.

Hall, Pronovost Blank Canadiens

By The Canadian Press

Rookie goalie Glenn Hall came up with his ninth shutout of the season Sunday night and his second in a row over Montreal Canadiens as Detroit Red Wings posted a 2-0 victory over the National Hockey League's sagging leaders.

It was the second setback of the weekend for the Canadiens.

A raw rookie goalie, Claude Pronovost, Saturday night engineered the biggest upset of the league season as the tail-end Boston Bruins blanked Montreal 2-0.

In Sunday night's other games Toronto Maple Leafs tripped the Bruins 4-1 while New York Rangers trimmed Chicago Black Hawks 2-0.

The Rangers edged the Leafs 6-5 in a high-scoring game and Detroit turned back Chicago 3-1 in Saturday night's other games.

DETROIT GAINS

The Wings' victory Sunday night moved them within 10 points of the Canadiens and three points back of the second-place Rangers. Dutch Reibel scored both goals, his ninth and 10th of the season, in the third period.

Before 14,988 fans, Reibel deflected in Red Kelly's 40-footer early in the session while Bernie Geoffrion was serving a penalty. Kelly also set up the other goal. He chased his own face-off swat into the boards and then passed out to Reibel who fired a 25-footer. Goalie Jacques Plante stopped the shot but the puck dribbled into the cage when he opened his legs.

Tod Sloan took over goal-getting honors in the league as the Leafs humbled the Bruins at Boston. His marker gave him a total of 24, one more than Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens.

Rudy Migay broke up a 1-1 deadlock late in the second period by back-handling a 15-footer directly in front of the nets past goalie John Henderson, up from Hershey of the American Hockey League to fill in for injured Terry Sawchuk. The play was set up on a pass from Sid Smith.

FOURTH SHUTOUT

Goalie Lorne Worsley of the Rangers notched his fourth shutout in New York's triumph over the Black Hawks. Pete Conacher and Dave Creighton were the Ranger marksmen.

Despite the shutout, Worsley had to handle more saves than Hank Bassen in the Chicago nets. Worsley made 30 stops, Bassen 23.

Conacher, a former Black Hawk, took a pass from Ron Murphy to send the Rangers ahead midway in the first period. Creighton, another former Chicago player, teamed up with Andy Hebenton for the second tally at 9.00 of the second session.

Pronovost, 20-year-old second-string goalie of the minor Montreal Royals, was pressed into emergency action for the Bruins in the Saturday night game at Montreal when Henderson's equipment went astray.

Wins Come Easily In Minor Soccer

Only one team had to work for its two points in Sunday's action in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association.

Canadian Scottish of division two moved to within two points of the league lead by blanking Eagles of division three, 3-0, in an inter-divisional clash at Windsor Park.

Other games scheduled Sunday saw Eagles of division one win their second straight game without kicking a ball as ANAF Vets failed to show up, while Sooke won by default from Sea Cadets, to keep abreast of Eagles in the division one race.

Gerry Booth, fleet centre-forward, led Scottish to victory Sunday with a neat hat-trick in the second half.

Saturday, Eagles, division two, blanked Canadian Scottish, division three, 7-0, at S. J. Willis Junior High School; Combines, division four leaders, shut out Heaneys, division five, 5-0, and Eagles, division four, edged Eagles, division five, 2-1.

Tom Collett with four, Wes Place with two and Art Affleck scored for division two Eagles, while Joe Stebeck with four and Don Collier with one scored for division four Combines.

Hoop Schedule

Following is this week's basketball schedule:

Tuesday, S. J. Willis Junior High School, 7.00—St. Louis College vs. First United, bantam boys; 8.00, St. Louis College vs. Cadboro Bay, juvenile boys; 9.00, Nomads vs. Drakes, first of two-game total point series for third playoff spot, senior B men's league.

Thursday, Central Junior High School, 7.00—Brentwood vs. Eaglettes, midget girls; 8.00, Brentwood vs. Eaglettes, bantam girls; 9.00, Nomads vs. Drakes, second game of two-game total point series for third playoff spot, senior B men's league.

OVER THE TOP

Horst Lasser soars over the tops of the trees at Oberstdorf, East Germany, in a practice jump at Riezlern ski jump. He will represent Germany in the Winter Olympic Games at Cortina, Italy, Jan. 26 to Feb. 5.

Cary Best 'Mudder' In Crosby Clambake

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff Sunday smashed the National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament records with a sparkling 202 for a repeat triumph in the 15th annual Bing Crosby sponsored event. He was unaffected by driving rains and atrocious playing conditions.

The one-time Memphis dentist, who finished second among the money winners on the pro circuit a year ago, added $2,500 to his earnings this season with his record-shattering round.

Steady rain which started on Saturday night and continued throughout the day made the course, eight holes of which border the Pacific ocean, a quagmire. Pools of water, most of them several inches deep, spotted the fairways. Sections of most greens were under water, too.

Middlecoff's brilliant round followed previous cards of 66 over the Cypress Point course and 68 at the Monterey Peninsula layout where the 284 pros and amateurs played opening rounds Friday and Saturday.

The tournament record was set at 204 by Lloyd Mangrum in 1953. The Apple Valley, Calif., veteran failed to qualify for this year's finals.

SOUCHAK SECOND

Mike Souchak, the first day leader with a 64 and one stroke off the pace going out Sunday wound up second with a par 72 for a 207 total.

Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, who tied with Middlecoff after 36 holes at 134, slid to a fat 77 for a 211 total. He finished in a deadlock for third money with Bill Ogden of Chicago, who had a 74 Sunday.

Trailing the winners were Dow Finsterwald, Athens, Ohio, at 212 and Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, and Doug Ford, Yonkers, N.Y., at 213 each.

Al Balding of Toronto was tied for 11th place with three other golfers at 216, shooting a 75 to go with his 70-71 for the two earlier rounds.

Matson Leads East Pro Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The magnificent running of Ollie Matson, topped by a 91-yard runback of a kickoff, proved the difference as the East defeated the West 31-30 in a rousing Pro Bowl football game on Sunday.

Matson fought his way 15 yards for another touchdown, and his 50-yard runback of a punt set up what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Canadian Ski Stock Soars in Last Test

KITZBUEHEL, Austria (CP)—Lucille Wheeler, Canadian women's ski champion from St. Jovite, Que., gave Canada's Olympic hopes a boost Sunday as she wound up in second place in the women's competition of the Hahnenkamm international ski meet.

This meet is regarded as the final, big test for skiers entered in the winter Olympics which open at Cortina d'Ampezzo in northern Italy, Jan. 26.

The freckle-faced, red-haired Canadian skier who celebrated her 21st birthday Saturday finished in ninth place in Sunday's slalom event after placing second in Saturday's downhill competition.

Her combined times for the two events gave her second place in the over-all women's racing behind 17-year-old Astrid Sandvik of Norway who won the slalom Sunday and was fifth in the downhill.

Meanwhile, Austrians dominated the men's racing with Toni Sailer winning the two-day competition. He was first in the downhill with a time of 2.57.8 Saturday and won the slalom in 146.7 seconds Sunday.

The performance of Sailer, 21-year-old plumber, and his teammates made them favorites for the Olympics. The Austrian men took 10 of the top 13 places in the downhill and six of the first 10 in the slalom.

This was the first competition for Canadian skiers before the Olympics.

Cats Add Strength As Berg Joins Club

Kilburn Hurt But May Play Tonight

By BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

EDMONTON—If results are produced in direct ratio to numerical strength, Victoria Cougars should be flying when they meet Edmonton Flyers here tonight.

Third stop on their seven-game Western Hockey League road trip should see the Cougars, for the first time in three weeks, have a full complement of 15 players.

Newest player to join the club will be Larry Berg, a 19-year-old leftwinger and centre from the Humboldt club of the Saskatchewan Junior League.

Berg was acquired on a trial basis following Saturday night's 6-2 victory over New Westminster Royals, when it appeared the Cougars might be sadly depleted in player strength.

TWO INJURED

However, indications now are that the Cougars' two injured players, Captain Colin Kilburn and defenceman Arnott Whitney, both will be in uniform tonight.

Kilburn suffered an eye injury in the first period of the New Westminster game when accidently hit by Motto McLean's stick. He saw no other action in the game. Medical diagnosis afterwards did not disclose any injury to the eye itself. However, Kilburn will submit to further medical examination prior to the game tonight.

Whitney, who aggravated a previous ankle injury at Vancouver Friday, has been taking diathermy treatments since the incident and says he is ready to play. Whitney too, was sidelined Saturday as the Cougars played most of the game with 12 men and much of it with 11.

Doug Macauley was the individual star of the piece with three goals bringing his year's total to 18.

It was his two first-period counters which gave the Cougars a lead that was to stand them in good stead.

Royals threatened in the second period when Blinky Boyce cut the deficit, but Macauley, playing on a line with Paul Strasser and Don Chiupka, rapped in the winner at 11.44 with a blistering low shot to the corner.

Although Royal goalie Bev Bentley only had five official saves in the third period, the sorties made by the Cougars were extremely dangerous and the wisdom of Olson's strategy bore fruit in two goals by Skip Teal and one by Jim Robertson.

FULL STRENGTH

With the team now back at full strength and on the winning trail again, thanks to the 12 good men, tried and true, Saturday night, Olson plans a return to his usual line formations tonight.

Berg will be used in reserve, depending on Kilburn's status.

Kilburn could barely see out of his injured eye this morning, but expressed a willingness to play.

Don Chiupka, who played with Berg last year, described the newest Cougar, who likely will see other action later in the week, as a fast skater and a good stickhandler. Fred Wonoski, a junior from Barrie, will join the club in Winnipeg.

Olson freely predicted that the club, if it played as in Westminster Saturday, would take three victories on the prairies, and possibly four.

JBAA Whites Threaten Rugby Lead

JBAA Whites edged Victoria College, 6-3, Saturday at Windsor Park to move to within one point of first-place Oak Bay Wanderers in the Victoria Rugby Union's first division.

In second division action Saturday, Navy won its fourth straight game and stayed in first position by downing University School, 13-6, and Victoria College blanked Oak Bay Wanderers, 13-0.

Tries by Williams and Frandle, and two converts and a penalty goal accounted for Navy's scoring against University School. Chris Pollard scored two penalty goals for the losers.

Roshan Khan Wins

MONTREAL (CP) — Roshan Khan of Pakistan Sunday won the first Canadian open squash championship, defeating Diehl Mateer of Philadelphia, 9-15, 15-8, 18-15, 15-3.

Roshan Khan gained the final by eliminating his cousin Azam Khan, 11-15, 9-15, 15-10, 15-10, 15-4, earlier in the day

HOLLYWOOD—Irish Tommy Bain, 126½, Syracuse, N.Y., stopped Joey Trujillo, 126, Los Angeles (2).

CHANGES PLANS

Doug Bentley Quits Quakers

Doug Bentley, 39-year-old veteran of many hockey wars, and recently ex-coach of the Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League, has played his final game with the last-place Quakers.

Bentley announced his decision Sunday following Saturday night's 6-2 loss to Brandon Regals.

Coach of the Quakers from 1951 until last Wednesday, Bentley said that he had planned to remain as a player, but that the club's decision to appoint Jackie McLeod as coach brought a change in his plans.

He hinted that he might finish the season as a part-time player with another team.

In a statement Sunday, Bentley said:

"At the time I resigned as playing coach and agreed to continue as a player, I was under the impression the Quakers were going to bring in an outside coach.

"However, now that the decision has been made to turn over the reins to Jackie McLeod, a player who worked under me with great success, I feel I should give him a fair chance of doing a good job without the embarrasement of having me on his club.

"Therefore I think the club will agree that it would be better if I discontinued playing with the Quakers and that is exactly what I am going to do."

POOR DEBUT

Saturday night, McLeod's coaching debut was somewhat less than auspicious as the Quakers lost their sixth straight game, the third straight on home ice.

The surging Regals won their fourth in a row and took over fourth place in the eastern division by three points over the Quakers by charging to a 4-1 lead in the second frame after a scoreless first period, and outscoring the Quakers, 2-1 in the final 20 minutes.

Gordie Stratton paced Brandon with two goals with singles going to George Senick, Aggie Kuklowicz, Elliott Chorley and Ray Manson, who also drew three assists.

Another erstwhile doormat of the league, Seattle Americans, pulled into a third place tie in the western division with New Westminster Royals by handing Calgary Stampeders a 3-2 setback at Calgary.

The win gave the Americans a 3-2 record in their final swing of the prairie circuit, and was the fifth straight loss suffered by the slumping league leaders.

Americans powered home three goals in the first period and then held on as the desperate Stamps battled to get back in the game.

Stamps came through with two goals in the sandwich session, but fell short in a hectic final period that saw tempers fray on both sides.

Savages Really Hot

CHENEY, Wash. (AP) — The Eastern Washington Savages hit more than half their shots from the floor for the second straight night to beat the University of British Columbia 72-62 in an Evergreen Conference basketball game Saturday night.

DEMPSEY LISTS 5 BIG ADVANTAGES FOR MEN IN TV

Urges Men To Prepare For One Of Nation's Fastest-Growing Opportunity Fields

CHICAGO—(Special) "Seldom in the history of America have greater opportunities been afforded young men than those which now exist in technical divisions of television, radio, and electronics," declared Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion here recently.

Jack Dempsey

Dempsey, who is associated with DeVry Technical Institute, one of the nation's foremost television training centers—stated that television and automation electronics offer ambitious young men a wonderful opportunity to prepare to:

1. Get a real job or business of their own.
2. Grow with one of today's most rapidly expanding and promising industries.
3. Get into a fast-moving, exciting field where the work is often so interesting they will learn to love it.
4. Qualify for personal benefits if called for military service—such as higher pay or better rating.
5. Obtain the skill needed to win all of these advantages without interfering with their present job.

"Any ambitious man between the ages of 17 and 55, who wants full information, without obligation, as to how he may prepare to enter this profitable field," said Dempsey, "should send a postal card or letter to J. P. Collins, Canadian Representative, DeVry Technical Institute, Dept. OE-2, 64 W. 28th Ave., Vancouver 10, B.C., saying: 'Send me full facts about television and automation electronics.'"

Scotties Belt Straths In Coast Loop Soccer

Victoria Strathconas, making their first appearance on the mainland in the doomed Coast Soccer League winter schedule, went down to a 6-1 defeat at the hands of St. Andrews Saturday afternoon at Callister Park.

Although Strathconas had a wide territorial edge in the first half, the agile St. Andrews forwards forced the Straths to make defensive errors and built up a 4-0 lead.

Strathconas pressed from the opening whistle, but at five minutes, St. Andrews broke away for a 1-0 lead, Dave Guthrie scoring as Victoria goaltender Pete Winters failed to punch the ball clear.

FAST FLURRY

Victoria held its own in the exchanges from then on until St. Andrews scored three goals in the final seven minutes before the intermission.

Two penalty goals by Joe Johnston, and George Mainwaring's counter gave the Scots their half-time lead.

Reg Chapman walked the ball into the net two minutes into the second half to make it 5-0 for the winners, and then banged home a rebound from Johnston for St. Andrews' final tally. Ced Robb completed the scoring with Strathconas' lone goal.

Goalkeeper Winter was struck by a hard shot in the face shortly before the second half ended and was replaced in the final half by John Moss, who made some fine saves.

Landy Hints New Assault On Mile Mark

MELBOURNE (AP) — John Landy hinted Saturday he will be shooting at his world record 3.58 mile again in the early spring, with expectations of matching or beating it.

After winning a special three-mile race at Olympic Park, the lean Australian agricultural professor startled newspaper men with the bland announcement:

"I am setting myself principally for the mile. My first real race over the distance will be in the Australian championships in March.

"I plan to run inside four minutes then—by that, I mean well inside four minutes."

Landy retirmed to the Australian "bush country" shortly after running the world's fastest mile in Turku, Finland, and losing to England's Roger Bannister in the British Empire Games at Vancouver in which both cracked the four-minute barrier.

In Saturday's three-mile run, Landy didn't exert himself but he finished 300 yards ahead of Les Perry, a former Olympic star, in 13 minutes, 39 seconds.

Palmer Beats Snead In Panama Open

PANAMA (AP) — Young Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., bested veteran Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., to win the $7,500 Panama open golf tournament in a sudden death playoff after six extra holes, Sunday.

Palmer and Snead finished the 72-hole medal play tournament with identical five-under-par 283s.

Towne Hallers Turn Back Leafs

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Towne Hallers held off a stubborn Vancouver Clover Leaf basketball team Saturday to hang on for a thrilling 56-51 victory before more than 1,000 fans and sweep a two-game exhibition series from the west coast crew.

Victoria Splashers Dominate Swim Meet

Victoria YMCA Swim Club, piling up a total of 131 points in 35 events, won handily over New Westminster and Vancouver Saturday night at Crystal Garden in a triangular swim meet between the three cities.

Totems Top North Surrey Hoop Squad

North Surrey High School's zone defence proved to be no obstacle for the Victoria High Totems as they drove to a well-earned 54-48 victory in a basketball encounter Saturday night, at Victoria High gym.

Big Glen Ennis (6' 7") and Dave Silversides of Surrey, led the scorers with 14 points each while Totems' Waldo Skillings, Bob Tomlinson and Art Chiko netted 10, 11 and 12 points respectively.

Surrey opened up vigorously in the first quarter, setting up their zone defence accompanied with a great deal of yelling by the players themselves, but neither the zone nor the noise succeeded in rattling the steady Victorians, and the quarter ended with the mainlanders one point up, 13-12.

This score was inverted in the second portion of the game as both teams settled down to steady ball-handling and accurate shooting. The half-time score was all tied up, 25 points apiece.

After the break, both teams slowed down their pace and the ball-handling became more deliberate as the Fraser Valley boys outscored the Totems in this period, 11-10.

In the final portion, Vic High poured on the coal. Wooldridge opened up for eight of his 10 points and Tomlinson got six as Totems dumped in 19 counters to North Surrey's 12.

In a preliminary game, St. Louis College juveniles defeated Vic High juniors, 47-18. Doug Flynn with 14 points led the rout for St. Louis.

North Surry—Silversides 14, Edstrom 6, Black, Stewart, Smith, D. Ennis, G. Ennis 14, Anderson, Vaneperen 8, Mathis 6. Total 48.

Vic High Totems—Skillings 10, English 3, Kowalyk 8, Tomlinson 11, Chiko 12, Vickery, Austin, Wilson, Devlin, Wooldridge 10. Total 52.

Dutchies on Way With Confidence

By W. R. WHEATLEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen left on their trans-Atlantic plane hop Sunday quietly confident today they will retain the Olympics hockey championship for Canada.

Just before the big Super-Constellation TCA plane rose from Montreal airport at 3.28 p.m., the Dutchies' little French-Canadian goalie summed up the feeling of his teammates.

"We have a good team and I am sure we can win," said Montrealer Denis Brodeur. "We have a great bunch of forwards."

That was pretty much the opinion, too, of coach Bobby Bauer, one-time star with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

"I think we have a good club," said Bauer. "I have always stressed fundamentals with the boys, especially a good defence. Up front we are a passing team and we do plenty of forechecking I think that's the style of play that beat any team we meet in the Olympics."

Bauer indicated he wasn't overly worried about the loss of six games by his players before they turned back Windsor 5-2 Saturday night in a scheduled Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League game.

AVOIDING INJURY

He figured his boys had been thinking plenty about this Olympics trip to Cortina, Italy, where the winter games open late this month, and making sure they didn't get injured.

A motorcade of 100 or more automobiles accompanied the Dutchmen from Kitchener earlier in the day to Malton airport near Toronto. There was a pipe band to enliven the send-off.

When the plane reached Montreal at 1.04 p.m., a welcoming delegation was on hand. It included councillor Charles Mayer, representing Mayor Jean Drapeau and officials of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

LAUDS McKENZIE

Bauer singled out one player on whom he is particularly high. He said that defenceman Bill McKenzie could make any team in the NHL. McKenzie, a native of Brandon, Man., who came up through the Brandon juniors and Toronto Marlboros, is six feet, three inches tall and a teacher at Preston, Ont., high school.

RUSS COACH TABS DUTCHIES TEAM TO BEAT

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—The coach of the Russian Olympic hockey team expects Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to be "the team to beat" in the Winter Games.

"However," A. Chernykov added Sunday, "the United States, Czechoslovakia and Sweden also have strong teams. About ourselves, we will know more after our game with Canada."

Darigolds Shade A's With Closing Burst

ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—Seattle Darigolds and Alberni Athletics battled down to the wire in an exhibition basketball game here Saturday night before the visitors came through with a 63-61 victory before a packed house of 1,000.

Seattle led 27-25 at half time.

Seattle was leading 60-59 with one minute and 45 seconds to go. Three quick points ensured Seattle the victory despite a last-second basket by Alberni's John Kootnekoff.

The Canadian basketball champions were down to five players in the last five minutes with Joe Samarin and Don Hill out on fouls and Doug Brinham out with a leg injury.

HE SERVES IN THE NAVAL RESERVE
Here's a young man with every reason to be proud! He's playing an important part in Canada's defence forces as a member of the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve), learning to accept adult responsibilities, preparing for his own tomorrow.
If you're 16 and have grade 8 education, you may join the Naval Reserve now, and this coming summer you'll get two weeks on board ship. You'll see all the famous inland seaports – Kingston, Hamilton, Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur – and sail as a member of a regular crew on full-time training pay! It's a great life. Next summer, if you continue your training, there's a chance you may sail aboard an ocean-going ship in the Atlantic or Pacific.

WESTERN BREWERIES LTD. TO REDEEM DEBENTURES

Western Canada Breweries Ltd. announced today that all of its 5 per cent convertible debentures which are outstanding at Feb. 15 will be redeemed.

But W. Ross Mackenzie, president of the company, said he did not expect any debenture holder would knowingly allow his debentures to be redeemed "as the spread between redemption price and the market price of debentures is so great."

All conversions of debentures into shares in the company must be made by Jan. 31 if the 30-cent dividend on shares is to be received.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices Fall At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A downward drift of stock market prices continued this afternoon. It was an orderly retreat and while industrial losses ranged to about $3, the biggest declines involved only light sales.

Papers, steels and utilities led the industrial decline. Financial institutions alone showed any firmness.

St. Lawrence Corp. dropped $3 to 80¼, Loblaw Inc. $2.25 to 86 and Canadian Westinghouse $2 to 50. Minnesota and Ontario was off $1.75 and Winnipeg and Central Gas $1.62.

Canada Permanent Mortgage gained $2.50 at 95 and Canada Wire B $2 at 80.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and motors led the stock market lower in fairly active trading late this afternoon.

Losses spread from fractions to around three points but there were some small gains here and there.

The market was lower from the opening. Some signs of recovery appeared in mid-morning but they evaporated and prices settled to around their lows for the day.

Canadian stocks were lower. International Nickel and Distillers Seagram each fell ½ and Canadian Pacific eased ⅝. Dome Mines was up ¼.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER — Prices were rising on an active market.

Trojan taking the lead in sales with a sale of 48,600 going to a high of $2.49. American Standard moved 29,000 up to 29. Bethlehem copper traded 2,300 at $1.09. Giant Mascot sold 5,500 at 80. Indian Mines moved 6,000 at 5½. Jackson Basin traded 16,100 between 41 and 49.

National Explorations sold 4,500 at 77. Pacific Nickel moved 3,500 at 28. Quatsino sold 6,000 between 47 and 49. Sil. Van. Cons sold 7,000 at 14. Beaver Ledge moved 8,000 at 61. Vanada traded 14 at 4¾. Far West Tungsten sold 9,000 at 54. Lucky Lager sold 1,000 at $5.25. B.C. Forest Products sold 200 at $16.50.

LONDON

LONDON (Reuters) — Prices on the London Stock Exchange were depressed today by adverse economic factors including a statement by Peter Thorneycroft, president of the board of trade, that the government intends to enforce its anti-inflation policy.

Government securities opened lower but when sellers failed to appear there was a substantial recovery. Dominion and colonial issues were lower.

Rails weakened under the lead of Canadian Pacific.

Bonds: British 3½s consols £55, British 3½s war loans £74½, British fundings 4s 1960-90 £91 5-16.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP) — A fractionally firmer pattern ruled moderately active dealings today on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Trading was active in the mines but most price changes were small.

BELL TELEPHONE STOCKS

MONTREAL (CP) — Directors of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada will seek authorization of shareholders to issue one or more series of bonds, debentures or debenture stock to a maximum amount of $100,000,000 at the annual general meeting of shareholders here March 8.

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA—Banks buying U.S. cheques at ½ per cent discount. Cash at ½ per cent discount. Silver at 3 per cent. Selling cheques at ¼ premium and cash at ½ premium.

MONTREAL (CP)—U.S. dollar was at a discount of 5/32. Pound sterling $2.80 5/16.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices were irregular at the close today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Rye and flax were sharply lower.

Best activity was in flax where shippers and exporters were early buyers. However, prices eased from their highs on commission house selling.

Rye dropped sharply reflecting declines in American rye as commission house selling and other offerings found support thin.

Oats and barley trade was mostly a domestic proposition. U.S. selling appeared in oats on occasions.

Trade reports said parcel lots of oats and flax were sold late Friday to the United Kingdom, while small quantities of flax were sold overnight to the continent.

Weekend export wheat loadings included: United Kingdom, 1,700,000 bushels; Belgium, 130,000, and Japan, 40,000.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat today succumbed to selling pressure based in part on the possibility of light moisture in the winter wheat belt.

Prices sank around two cents at times on the board of trade.

Rye was under even more selling pressure than wheat, tumbling more than three cents at the worst.

Selling was believed to represent profit-taking.

Wheat closed 1 to 1¾ lower, Mar 2.10⅜-½, corn ¼-⅜ lower, Mar 1.29⅜-½, oats ⅜-⅝ higher, Mar 64½-¾, rye 2¼-3⅝ higher, Mar 1.20½ and soybeans unchanged to ¼ higher, Jan 2.43½-¾.

Price of Ford Stock Set Today Victoria Investors Interested

The price at which Ford Motor Company stock will be sold is to be set in New York today. Unless there's a leak, however, investors won't know until Tuesday morning what the price will be.

The stock goes on sale Wednesday morning.

Victoria investment firms say they have had a large number of inquiries from people wanting to buy Ford stock. They accept the orders but cannot say yet what Ford will be available in Canada.

What happens today is that the seven investment firms managing the underwriting of the 10,200,000-share offering will meet with the Ford Foundation to agree upon a price.

The Ford Foundation is involved because it is selling the shares and will get the proceeds.

BIG DEMAND SEEN

Tuesday morning, the securities and exchange commission will be advised of the price.

At 9.30 a.m., representatives of the 722 firms which will participate in the underwriting will start signing contracts covering the sale at the offices of Blyth & Co., co-managers of the group. The contracts will state the number of shares each contractor will get.

Few persons will get all the Ford stock they want, because demand promises to be far greater than the supply. Nor will the entire 10,200,000 shares be available for public purchase.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The events leading up to the remark are all very vague to me now. But I do remember the remark, to whom it was made, and the events which followed.

The remark was made to My Favorite Wife, and it was to the effect she had made a bad mistake.

"What do you mean, I made a bad mistake?" My Favorite Wife demanded.

It just seems to me it was a bad mistake, is all, I said. I'm entitled to an opinion, am I not, I queried.

"Of course you are entitled to an opinion at all times, MFW agreed. "Except," she qualified, "when your opinion is you think I have made a bad mistake."

"Oh," sneered MFW, "you mean I made a good mistake?"

Not what I had in mind, I demurred.

"Then possibly," she went on, "you mean I made a right mistake?"

How could anyone make a right mistake, I asked?

I can see it would be not necessarily, I agreed.

"I am glad you are beginning to understand," she continued. "A right mistake at the right time sounds ideal.

"But you must remember, two rights don't make a wrong. Only sometimes."

And not necessarily, I added.

"A wrong mistake at the wrong time also has much to recommend it" MFW said, ignoring me. "A wrong mistake at the wrong time can be classed as a triple negative. Triple negatives are hard to come by and are very useful in confusing the issue."

To which issue are you referring, I asked?

"The issue of whether or not I made a bad mistake and don't you agree it is now delightfully confused?" she cried, triumphantly.

Me, too, I admitted.

"Of course," said MFW, complacently.

ANCIENT SKULL FOUND ON BEACH

Everything finds its way to the police lost and found department, even 200-year-old skull inspected here by Oak Bay Police Chief Hugh Reston and Miss Sydney Barlow. It was found by schoolboy Peter Kerr, 1828 Crescent, near Foul Bay beach. Police are sending it to Provincial Museum.

Scurrah to Push Poll Tax Repeal

Road Levy Also Facing End But Not Until '57

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today he is prepared to take immediate action toward repeal of Victoria's road and poll tax.

The mayor did not elaborate, but it was later learned any repeal action inaugurated this year likely would not go into effect until 1957.

Road and poll tax notices are in the mail and normally payment is due within 30 days of receiving notice.

To date some 60 residents have made payment of the $2 road tax and/or $5 poll tax.

Road and poll tax bring an average total of $25,000 net to city revenue annually. This represents about a third of a mill based on the 1955 mill rate.

The mayor's announcement is in line with his pre-election speeches. He repeated today his previous declaration: "It is an unfair tax and should be abolished."

Road and poll taxes are paid by residents other than property-holders and in the past a large percentage of persons who do not pay, escape penalties due to the difficulties of collection.

UNFAIR TAX

It is also contended by some City Hall sources to be unfair taxation since in recent years transient citizens and those who have no real property are taxed in other ways through provincial sales tax and do not escape their responsibilities completely.

City officials have also mailed some 3,400 business licence forms and about 2,000 dog licence bills in the last few days.

Business licences are paid on a half-yearly basis and are due today. They yield about $150,000 every six months. Dog licences are due now and a $1 discount is in effect to those dog-owners who renew licences before March 1.

Golden Staph Brought Under Compensation

Hospital Workers Get Protection

The infection was ordered included in the schedule of industrial diseases, under the act, by a provincial order-in-council approved by the cabinet today.

Benefits of the act will be extended to those contacting golden staph—or staphylococcus aureus—while working in the following occupations:

In a hospital, private hospital, nursing home, sanitarium, any branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, any clinic, or any prison hospital unit:

Also, in any public health unit of the government service, the University of British Columbia, any municipality, or school board, or social workers performing duties normally carried out by a public health unit.

The order also applies to those working for the B.C. Medical Research Institute, or the Department of Bacteriology, at UBC.

The order-in-council made the order applicable retroactive to December 1, 1954.

"That's more wonderful news," said Jubilee administrator George Masters. "It will be a real help in fighting the infection to know that employees' incomes will be protected.

"Staph infections have fallen off remarkably but the principle has been set and that is to the good."

At St. Joseph's Hospital, Dr. A. Brunet, medical superintendent, said, "that is a good Thing but I don't think there will be many applications here according to recent statistics."

GALES TO HIT COAST AREAS

Winds that blew between 30 and 50 miles per hour today will ease off tonight but pick up speed again Tuesday morning, according to weatherman William Mackie.

A small storm centred over Vancouver Island overnight produced winds up to 46 miles per hour in the early morning. Tuesday's weather, calling for gales in all coastal areas of B.C., will come from a storm in the Pacific which will reach the coast Tuesday morning.

Money Vote Still Sought For VLA Wives

Saanich Voters' Association will continue its campaign to help spouses of veterans purchasing property under the Veterans' Land Act to win the right to vote on municipal money by-laws.

It has given up its effort to have the VLA amended, and instead will press for amendment of the B.C. Municipal Act.

A brief already has been submitted to the government for consideration at the coming session of the Legislature.

The association states there are 8,383 veterans in B.C. whose spouses are in the position of not being able to vote on money by-laws. They cannot purchase in joint tenancy, the situation may be regarded as perpetual, and the only apparent remedy is discharge of the debt over the usual 25-year period and subsequent joint registration of title.

A remedy actually was found in the case of 31 Saanich women, wives of VLA purchasers, whose names were placed on the title of a vacant lot in joint tenancy with the real owner and his wife. All 33 owners now enjoy full municipal voting privileges.

According to the association, 500 persons could be registered on one title as easily as 33. It claims, therefore, that when the provisions of the act can be thus circumvented, the need for a change is indicated.

Driver Fined $50 After Car Careens Into Pole, Rockery

Jack Ronald Ramsay, 2512 Douglas, was fined $50 or seven days in jail and his licence was suspended when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a careless driving charge.

Police said he was the driver of a car Dec. 29 which struck a power pole on Esquimalt Road, careened across a rockery into a driveway and crashed into garage doors at 727 Esquimalt Road.

William Carnegie, 3458 Bethune, was fined $35 or five days in jail on a charge arising from a two-car accident at Johnson and Quadra Dec. 20.

He had been driving east on Johnson, stopped for a stop sign at Quadra and then pulled out into the intersection, colliding with a car driven north on Quadra. Damages were $75.

Miss Belle Nicol Burial Wednesday

Funeral service for Miss Belle Nicol, member of a well-known Victoria family, will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. from Thomson Funeral Home with Dr. E. Foreman officiating.

She died here Saturday in a nursing home, and had lived at the Swedish Villa, Linden Avenue, for some time previously.

Among survivors are nieces and nephews here and in eastern Canada.

Interment will be in the family plot, Ross Bay cemetery.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Will you kindly give information as to where I can send some short story manuscripts? Would they need to be typed? Mrs. S.F.

A. There is a book published in New York which fully covers the field. It is the "Writer's Digest Annual." Your best plan would be to consult it. You can inquire for it at the Victoria Public Library. Unquestionably, it is advisable to typewrite (double spaced) all manuscripts to be submitted for purchase by a magazine or other publication. To write a story by hand may erect an obstacle to its purchase despite its subject matter and excellence of style.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A company employee said 73 panes of glass have been broken within the last four days.

Lapp has been in critical condition since he received head injuries, a broken leg and possible internal injuries in a fatal "hot-rod" accident early Jan. 8. Killed in the accident was John William Hitchin, 23, 1955 Kings.

Fines were imposed on two drivers who pleaded guilty in Saanich and Sidney RCMP courts today to charges of driving while their ability was impaired by alcohol.

Joseph Thomas Jarvis, 917 Catherine, was fined $250 or 20 days in jail when he appeared in Saanich court.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall suspended his licence.

Court was told Jarvis was arrested at about 1.20 a.m. Sunday after he had been seen driving in an erratic manner on Trans-Canada Highway.

In Sidney RCMP court Norman Francis Pearson, Sidney, was fined $100 and $6.50 costs, or 14 days in jail.

RCMP said the charges arose following an incident in Sidney early Sunday morning.

New Teletype Speeds News From East

Quiet, slow talking Phil Curran, Montreal, is responsible for approximately 750,000 words daily as managing director of British United Press throughout Canada.

He is visiting Victoria today to check on a new fast BUP news wire service which has increased wordage received from the east from 60 to 75 words a minute via the teletypes.

This gives a potential of BUP words received daily by the Times of better than 100,000. The service started here Jan. 8.

It is the fastest trans-continental news agency wire service on the continent.

BUP operates 12,000 miles of wire to bring its news to Canadian readers; runs 13 news bureaux across the country; services 50 newspapers and 150 radio and TV stations.

Reaction to the new service among newspapers was "favorable" said Mr. Curran.

7 Victorians Hurt In Week-End Mishaps

70-Year-Old Pedestrian Suffers Cuts To Face, Back Injury at Roundabout

Seven persons suffered injuries in weekend traffic mishaps.

Seventy-year-old pedestrian Herbert S. Batey, 3456 Carter, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital after receiving facial lacerations and a back injury in an accident at the Roundabout Saturday night.

Police said he was walking across Hillside about 80 feet east of Douglas when in collision with a car driven east on Hillside by Arthur James Pickford, 376 Foul Bay.

The accident occurred at about 5.30 p.m.

Raymond C. Warren, 1809 Blanshard, received bruises and shock when in collision with a car while crossing Government between Yates and Johnson Saturday at about 7.05 p.m.

Driver of the car which was proceeding north on Government was Derek Green, 605 Michigan, police reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stephens, 2519 Cranmore, required hospital treatment following a two-car crash at Yates and Cook at about 7.25 p.m.

Police said Mr. Stephens was driving west on Yates when in collision with a car traveling north on Cook and driven by Martin Angus McDonald, 611 Vancouver.

KNEE HURT

Mrs. Cynthia Rasmussen, 54, 20 Menzies, injured her knee when she fell while alighting from a car in the 700-block View at about 2.45 p.m.

F. Hextall, 828 Courtney, said he injured his right wrist when he fell while attempting to avoid being hit by a car at Courtney and Blanshard at about 8.15 p.m.

Mr. Hextall said he was crossing Blanshard when a car driven east on Courtney turned north on Blanshard and nearly struck him. Driver of the car did not stop.

Alexander Gill, 50, 552 Yates, refused hospital treatment after he was knocked down by a pick-up truck at Cormorant and Government at about 10.35 p.m.

'LET IT BE A SACRED SYMBOL'

Totem Inspires Local Poet

Inspired by the project to carve the world's tallest totem a shareholder today submitted a poem he has written and dedicated to the pole.

THE TOTEM POLE

Let the totem pole be kindred
To the spirit of the West,
To the Great White Mother's people,
To this land forever blest.

Let the totem pole be cedar,
Let it rise towards the sky.
Let it be a sacred symbol
There unto the naked eye.

Let the totem pole we treasure
Be a work of art to man,
Be an emblem carved and painted—
Let it be the tallest span!

Share applications have now reached close to the 2,500 mark, with cash amounting to $1,196.50.

Shares may be obtained directly at the downtown Times office on Broad Street or at 2631 Douglas; or by mail to the Times. They are 50 cents each.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Women Aren't the Only Ones Who Look for Fitted Cases

By PENNY SAVER

Oh no! The men in this town have bought up their fair share of plastic and leather cases fitted with everything from complete shaving outfits to do-it-yourself kits. The one I found in a downtown store will suit to a "T" the man who travels, or the one who likes extra convenience when shaving.

In a cream plastic case about two inches high and nine or 10 inches long is a small light, a plug attachment and cord measuring about six feet. Lift the lid of the case, and there's a mirror. Plug in the attached cord, push in a small button to turn on the light, and then plug the electric razor cord into the plug. All set to go, and no worries about proper lighting or handy mirror.

His electric shaver has a place in this case, too, 'cause there's a leather strap attachment that is part of the case. Once securely strapped in, it can't bounce around. There's room in this case for a few odds and ends, like a toothbrush, paste and such. The price makes it a probable gift when birthday time comes around. It's $7.50.

For watching TV, or just loafing around luxuriously, the slippers that have just arrived in town are real charmers. They look, very much like those Grecian sandals you like to wear during the summer, but these are made of soft suede. The soles are a soft leather, and attached to the top, over the bottom of the foot, is a piece of pastel or black suede. It's held in place by elastic thongs so that the whole slipper fits like a glove. A piece of elastic also stretches around behind the heel for a good fit. The minimum of material, a maximum of comfort! In red, blue, yellow, pink or black, they'll blend with your favorite lounging outfit, and will double during the summer as casual shoes. The soles are hard enough to withstand good wear, and the shades are enough to make you want to buy several pair. Oh yes, one more tempting thing that adds to their attractive appearance is a tiny cluster of daisies on the foot. They come in small and average, and the price is $4.50.

Would you like to know where I found the items mentioned in today's column? Call me at 2-3131 and I'll give you the names of the stores.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

HERE'S A HELP FOR ALL WOMEN ON MARATHON

How are you doing with your New Year's resolutions? Women everywhere have promised themselves that this is the year when they are really going to take better care of themselves, when they are going to lose weight, when they are going in for self-improvement in a big way and stick to a beauty routine.

They promised themselves that they will look younger rather than older this time next year, and they can! There is no doubt about that!

I want to give those of you who are joining my eight-week self-improvement Marathon a few hints today, because I want this eight weeks to be one of the most successful of your lives.

1. Do not weigh every day. It takes several days of dieting before you lose a few pounds. Daily weighing is discouraging.

2. Do not fail to count your calories every day. If you diet a few days and then skip a few you never will make the grade.

3. Be sure to count in the small items such as salad dressing or oils, nuts, sauces, a bit of cream, gravy, and so on. These seemingly small items add up to a big calorie count.

4. Don't talk about reducing. It bores people and there is no need to have it on your mind constantly. When you are a guest at dinner take some of everything. You do not have to eat everything on your plate, probably no one will notice if you don't. You always can refuse second helpings politely.

If you would like to join my Marathon to see how much you can improve yourself or if you wish to lose 20 pounds in just eight short weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Josephine Lowman's eight-week self-improvement Marathon. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Chapter Gives Hampers, Books

GANGES—Mrs. G. H. Holmes, vice-regent, presided at meeting of HMS Ganges Chapter, IODE, in the absence of the regent, Mrs. V. C. Best.

The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. W. M. Mouat, showed a balance of $92.22, and Miss M. Lees, social services convener, reported that 39 hampers had been packed to the value of $150 in the holidays. A letter from the new teacher at the chapter's adopted school was read by the educational secretary, Mrs. J. Parsons, and it was reported that 25 pounds of magazines had been sent to Tranquille Sanatarium.

A talk on the evils of Communism was given by the Empire and world affairs convener, Mrs. T. Mouat. Miss Lees and Mrs. T. Fowler were appointed as nomination committee. Tea was served by Mrs. Fowler and Miss Aitken.

Diane June Buxton Wed In Saturday Ceremony

In a ceremony in St. Saviour's Church Saturday evening, Miss June Buxton, daughter of Mrs. P. Buxton, 563 Head Street, and the late Mr. Buxton, exchanged wedding vows with Ronald Emil Burkholder, son of Mrs. R. C. McKay, Wetaskiwin, Alta., and the late Mr. Burkholder. Rev. L. G. Wheeler officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Leslie P. Buxton, and chose a strapless gown of lace and net styled with a lace bodice extending through the waistline into the skirt, where a bouffant net flare highlighted the bottom of the skirt. Tiny sequins dotted the lace, and patterned the Peter Pan collar of the matching lace jacket. An illusion net veil with scalloped rolled edge was caught to a lace and net band. She wore rhinestone earrings, the gift of the groom. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of red roses and white fresia.

The bride was attended by bridesmaid Miss Patsy Simmons, who wore a mauve gown fashioned with a lace bodice, net skirt and lace bolero jacket. She chose an accordion pleated headband of matching net, and carried a cascade of yellow blossoms. Sandra Foisy was flower girl in a brocaded satin and net dress in pale green. She carried a small pink cascade bouquet.

Reg Chambers was best man, and ushers were Bruce Craigie and Ross Recknagle.

Assisting the bridal party in receiving guests at the reception at Lougheed's Banquet Hall, were Mrs. Buxton, in a grey and pink dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. Burkholder in a winter white dress with black accessories and yellow rosebud corsage. Silver bowls of chrysanthemums flanked the three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink roses, which centred the bride's table. The wedding cake was made by a friend, Mrs. Ina Catterall. Proposing the toast to the bride was Norm Lynn.

New Styles, Smart Hats For Opening

When Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of the province, enters the Parliament Buildings on Tuesday afternoon for the opening of the Legislature, she will be wearing a Panquin model dress of black faille. Her small white hat will be accented with an aigret trim and she will complement her ensemble with a mink stole.

Miss Brenda Turner will wear a navy blue ensemble with small white hat and a fur cape, and Miss Ruth MacLean will be in charcoal blue with matching accessories.

The wife of the Premier of British Columbia, Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, has chosen a dressmaker suit of fine wool tweed in black and midnight blue, accented with jet button trim. Her smart black hat in the new rolled brim silhouette has an aigret feather trim.

A two-piece grey silk ensemble will be worn by Mrs. R. W. Mayhew. Her accessories will be white hat and gloves, and a chiffon-toned mink stole.

A fine black wool ensemble with matching accessories and mink stole has been chosen by Mrs. Gordon McG. Sloan; Mrs. H. W. Davey will wear a misted blue dressmaker suit with navy accessories and Russian squirrel furs.

Black is the choice of Mrs. Lydia Arsens, MLA, who will wear a fine French wool suit cut on classic lines with small black sequinned hat. Mrs. J. B. Clearihue will be wearing a brown ensemble with matching accessories; charcoal and silver flame afternoon sheath dress with three-quarter sleeves and draped shoulder line will be worn by Mrs. P. B. Scurrah. Her dress will be complemented with a mink stole and a hat of small pink velvet petals.

Mrs. P. A. Gibbs will wear a maroon model dress in fine wool with pleated draping over the hips and at the back. A small black hat and sable furs will complete her ensemble. Mrs. George Gregory will be smart in a black wool ensemble with close fitting white turban. A navy blue sheer wool dress is the choice of Mrs. Arthur Laing with smart pink hat made of petals and trimmed with one large rose over the right ear. She will also wear a mink scarf.

Now at Home

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril D. Gagnon were married recently in Our Lady of Lourdes Church. The bride is the former Miss Frances Isobel Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith, 39 Tovey Crescent, and her groom, the son of Capt. and Mrs. W. T. Gagnon, 2674 Topp avenue. The newlyweds have returned from a honeymoon spent in Hawaii, and are living at 46 Douglas street.

Wedding Vows Solemnized In St. Nicholas' Church

Gowned in a bouffant, ballerina-length dress of white net and lace, Miss Malvina (Molly) Yarmie entered St. Nicholas' Greek Catholice Church Saturday evening on the arm of her father, for her wedding to Mr. William James Varcoe. Father P. Kachur officiated at the ceremony in a setting of white chrysanthemums and flickering candles.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Yarmie, 920 Empress Avenue, wore a strapless gown fashioned with a full net skirt with a lace insert. Her small jacket was of matching lace. A coronet of sequins and pearls held her chapel veil of nylon illusion net. Red roses and white blooms were in her bridal bouquet.

The groom, son of Mrs. Margaret Varcoe, 365 E. 38th Avenue, Vancouver, had Jack Robinson as best man, while ushers were Nelson Hughes and Johnny Yarmie.

At the reception which followed in the Golden Slipper, a three-tier wedding cake made by the mother of the groom, centred the bride's table. Red roses flanked the cake. Toast to the bride's future happiness was made by George Hurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Varcoe will live in Vancouver.

6 IN MEMORIAM

BOWCOTT—In loving memory of our Dad, John E. Bowcott, who passed away, January 16, 1954.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

TOP BRITISH MOVIES START ON C-5 DAILY AT 12.30 P.M.

TOP MOVIES AT NOON! — Here is good news for housewives and those who can be about the home at 12.30 week days. Under the title Afternoon Film Festival, Channel 5 will present full-length English motion pictures. This column will publish titles and stars each Monday in order that you may fit those you wish to see into your daily schedules.

THIS WEEK'S HIGHLIGHTS:—Tuesday— Dickens' scholar, 75-year-old Mrs. Mabel Morris, may or may not try for the $64,000 Question jackpot, Channels 11 and 12 at 7.

At 8 p.m. Dinah Shore will head the hour-long Chevy show cast on Channel 4. Appearing in the musical will be Perry Como, Marcel Marceau, pantomimist; Patrice Munsel, plus some of the stars of "Guys and Dolls."

At 9.30, Channel 4's Playwrights '56, will present Steven Hill and Sally Gracie in the 60-minute drama, "Lost," about a man who wonders who he is and why he is in New York.

At the same time, on Channel 11, Red Skelton gains applause as "The Sculptor." Basil Rathbone is his guest.

Wednesday: At 7 on Channel 5, Sandy Saddler will defend his featherweight title against challenger Gabriel Elorde in a 15-round bout at San Francisco. Elorde is rated ninth.

At the same time, on Channel 11, Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn star in Steel Hour's "The Great Adventure," about an artist who is buried in error in Westminster Abbey.

At 9, Channel 4 presents Kraft Theatre's "The Devil as a Roaring Lion." A family needs financial backing. This is offered on the condition that the son must be sent to an exclusive school.

Thursday: At 8.30, Channel 11 presents Shower of Stars, featuring Jack Benny, Quentin Reynolds, Shirley MacLaine and, of course, Rochester.

Friday: At 7 on Channel 4, Gil Turner is scheduled to fight Gene Fulmer in a 10-round middleweight match at Syracuse. Turner is unrated while Fulmer holds down the seventh spot in his division.

CARROLL RICHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, JAN. 17, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Get together harmoniously with understanding partner. Steer clear of demanding individuals from past who try to get you to invest time, energy, etc., in risky ventures.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Your prestige, credit, effectiveness mounts by doing whatever happens to be your own job with faithfulness and new angles that delight co-workers slipped in. Avoid shrewd individual who tries to turn your gains to his advantage.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Try to get away from tedious toil as much as you can today. Get your charm at new radiance by treatments most suited to your needs at beauty parlor, barber shop, etc. Then, P.M. fine for entertainment, romance, recreation, sports.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Forego that insistent urge for letting everything fall away just to have some fun today. Keep your attention centred upon increasing your income, harmonious relations with family. Then you make real progress.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Home problems can really have long time annoyance connected with them if you delve into them today. Instead, get in world of action, come to agreement with all outside associates. Uncover data you need. Enjoy close contacts. Take jaunts, shop.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—You can really produce results now by sticking at your own work, and make all kinds of new and improved conditions to fit present circumstances. Be efficient. Find gadgets to lighten burdens. Repair furniture. Get new clothing, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Forget all that fussing about pennies, nickels, dimes. You can have a greater abundance now by letting others see your basic charm, the enlarged horizons, ambitions that are yours. P.M. fine for enjoying one you love the most.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Forget yourself today. Listen to members of your family, take home presents. Search out ways to have more happiness beneath your own roof. Get advice from experts about delighting others. Be generous in spirit, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Understanding friend has answer to your needs but it's necessary you be willing to forget your frustrations or you leave his, or her, presence and go right back into your own rut. Look to your highest principles and follow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Steer clear of that friend who knows-it-all. Listen to what your own intuition tells you is the best way to get the respect, active assistance from those in power whose support you need now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Now you have a good day to sidestep that official who thinks he knows it all and tries to bend you to his will or ideas. Get out and obtain impersonal data to expand your own knowledge to usable extent. Plug away.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Studying modern, up-to-date methods for getting maximum benefit from association with experts, personal advisors, etc., requires you stick close to your base of operation despite tendency to go off on tangent. Hold the fort steadily.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

Tuesday's child is one of those youngsters who has all kinds of charm but it is of an unpredictable nature which causes others to be fascinated but not sure just what he, or she, will do next! It may appear as though your progeny will attach self to those who are harsh and difficult but it's only to learn lessons which will be used effectively in later life. Always have present spiritual, scientific, educational tracts so that your offspring can attach this fine mentality to worth-while principles.

WHY RENT???
Why rent when for only $1,500 down you can build your own house? Surely you have in the bank or can raise this amount. When you rent, all the money that you pay, you never see again, and with this small down payment you can regain all the hard cash that you would normally be paying rent. Also, not only do you regain this money but your payments per month are less than you would normally pay for rent. Why don't YOU enquire into building under the National Housing Act?

MINUTE-OLD BABY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

NEW YORK (AP)—Jill Kanarek was in an automobile accident Sunday—one minute after being born.

Murdered Missionary Known Here

Slain last week in remote Ecuador jungles by savage Auca Indians, Seattle missionary Peter Fleming, 27, is well known in Victoria among the five assemblies here of the Christian Brethern, who support the work of the Christian Missions to Many Lands.

They disappeared Sunday before last after flying into the jungle in an attempt to bring Christianity to the natives. An amateur radio operator in Quito, Ecuador, said the five were "dead and buried" in the green jungle. Widows of the young missionaries were flown over their graves today.

"They don't have Christianity like we have," said Mrs. Fleming. "If they had it, they wouldn't have done such a thing."

Mr. Fleming said the missionaries knew they were on a dangerous mission when they started out.

"Somebody had to make the first step, though," he said. "Others will follow. I am hopeful that some day someone will have success in bringing them Christianity."

Fair Weather Brightens Job Picture

Male unemployment in Victoria dropped by six last week and applications for employment increased by a moderate 136, both unusually good figures for the month of January, National Employment Office reports.

Orders for young sales clerks remain high, but other clerical accupations have slackened for the present time. Some demand was noted in semi-skilled groups, but ample men to fill positions were obtained.

Main female demand is in domestic work, but some young sales

Democrats Lambaste 'War Brink' Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign policy appeared today to be assuming such proportions as a political issue that State Secretary Dulles may be induced to take to the campaign stump in this U.S. presidential election year.

Dulles has said he has no present intentions of making campaign speeches, but he may change his mind in the light of a furor over his latest defence of the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign affairs.

A Life magazine article last week quoted him as having said the United States has looked war in the face in Asia three times and has avoided it. The article fired into flame criticism that was only smouldering previously.

Dulles was roundly criticized by a number of Democrats and by some British newspapers for his quoted statement that "the ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art."

DEBATE WIDENS

Stevenson, again seeking the Democratic presidential nomination which he won in 1952, accused Dulles of being "willing to play Russian roulette with the life of our nation."

Accused Stevenson of having "partisan political ends," Stassen said in a statement that "the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy cannot fairly be labelled by any thoughtful and responsible American as recklessly playing Russian roulette, and to so label it is harmful to the United States."

Nixon termed criticism of Dulles' remarks a "tempest in a teapot," and told reporters that avoidance of war in crises cited by Dulles "is to the eternal credit of the president and the secretary of state."

WOULD FIGHT

The magazine article said Dulles maintains that by making known to the Communists a U.S. readiness to fight, the administration averted renewed conflict in Korea and involvement in war in Indochina and the Formosa area.

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.), in an NBC radio-television debate with Senator Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.), said, "We don't want to have a foreign policy that is always going to let us be on the brink of war—some of these days they might fail to get us back."

Stevenson, in his statement, had suggested that Congress examine "the facts and circumstances of these extraordinary" statements attributed to Dulles. In that, he got the backing of Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem., Minn), who is supporting Stevenson for the party presidential nomination.

Humphrey called on Eisenhower to "tell the world that the United States has no intention of conducting its foreign policy by bringing us, and the world, to the verge of war."

The White House has declined comment.

Malahat Sets Open House In Recruit Bid

HMCS Malahat, Victoria naval reserve, is taking part in a Canada-wide recruiting drive which aims to enlist 1,500 young men and women for service in 22 reserve ships.

The six-week drive, which starts this week, will feature open house at Malahat, 1002 Wharf, every Thursday during February. Movies will be shown and prospective recruits will be given the opportunity to have the service explained by members familiar with training.

"BUDDY SYSTEM"

Each new entry will be enlisted by a friend already in the reserve, who will advise the newcomer in what is called the "buddy system" of recruiting.

Men over 16 and women over 18 are being sought for all types of naval duty, including service as bandsmen. The local division plans to build a new band and will supply instruments and training.

New entries will be sent next summer to Hamilton, reserve headquarters for Canada, where they will be given "sea training."

More Night Courses Open Wednesday

Sponsored by Victoria College Evening Division are Exploring Music, Fundamentals of Industrial Safety and Fundamentals of Selling.

About 200 adult students have started other courses which held their first lectures last week.

The safety course, designed to meet the needs of foremen, supervisors and executives in business, industry and government features several lectures: Roy H. Elfstrom, B.C. Electric, Vancouver; Roy H. Lund and George McWilliams, BCE, Victoria; John Berry, solicitor, Workmen's Compensation Board; Scotty Ellison, safety director B. C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association. Co-ordinator is George McWilliam.

Fundamentals of Selling will also have several speakers, representing local businesses. Coordinator is Alan U. Potter, district sales manager of a local vacuum cleaner agency.

Fuel Drivers Win Wage Hike

Victoria Fuel Distributors' Union (CCL) has accepted a two-year wage contract with local companies giving eight cents an hour wage increase and two additional paid statutory holidays this year, plus five cents and two more holidays in 1957.

Present wage rates range from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour, and with the increases fuel drivers will be receiving close to that earned by other truck drivers, a union spokesman said.

A company official said the additional cost of wage boosts likely will be passed on to the consumer, and not absorbed as in the past four years.

To the present paid holiday — Labor Day—will be added Christmas, and New Year's this year, and May 24 and Dominion Day in 1957.

Detroit Dailies Back in Operation After Long Strike

The Detroit News, Times and Free Press printed for the first time since Dec. 1 after publishers came to terms with the last eight unions which were involved in the walkout.

Nearly 5,000 employees of the papers returned to their jobs, ending the first complete shutdown of newspaper service in the city's history.

Cat-Size Rats Infest School Garbage Dump

NANAIMO (CP) — Several residents of suburban Wellington have complained that rats "as big as small cats" are over-running the garbage dump at the Brannan lake school for boys.

One resident, James Colly, appealed to others in the area to back his claim that the situation is serious enough for the government to start "cleaning up the plague of rats."

Mr. Colly said he is unable to keep his vegetables stored safely.

IWA Local Seeks National Parley To Decide Policy

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Local 1-85 of the International Woodworkers of America CIO-CL here has asked for a national convention to co-ordinate general policy of the union in Canada.

Financial secretary Jack Moore said a resolution to this effect was passed this week because policies laid down in B.C. and Alberta are at variance with practices in eastern Canada.

It is felt, he said, a stronger and more effective union for all woodworkers could be established if a national policy were adopted.

Mr. Moore said eastern workers are employed under conditions reminiscent of 1918 in this province and at lower wages than presently paid in B.C.

Auto Racing Scheme Advanced in Nanaimo

William Oliver, manager of the Civic Arena and Vancouver Island Exhibition, announced that private interests have approached him regarding building a one-half mile track for stock cars at Beban Park.

He estimated a grandstand with a seating capacity of 2,500 would cost $10,000 and the track itself $5,000.

"The figure may appear low," he said, "but the site in mind is almost level, and little clearing will be necessary."

Mr. Oliver said the arena's deficit now stands at $9,533, or well below the 1948 deficit of $15,948. Ideas being considered to boost revenue include staging of high school speed-skating contests and use of the arena as an indoor playground for preschool children during the summer.

Nanaimo Chamber Continues Drive To Extend Wharf

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce will continue its drive for additional docking and loading facilities at the assembly wharf here, chamber president E. L. Hodson announced Saturday.

Extension of harbor facilities is high on the list of the year's program, he said.

Shelby M. Saunders, chairman of the chamber's harbor committee, has guided the chamber's request to the federal government for harbor extension for many years. Mr. Hodson has now appointed him to sit on the directorate so that he may continue his work toward bringing about the fruition of the chamber's long standing objective.

Hospital Petition Lists 660 Names

DUNCAN—Good progress on a petition asking for formation of a hospital district in the unorganized area here has been reported by Air Marshal Sir Philip Livingstone.

The petition is the first step in the campaign to start construction of a new King's Daughters' hospital.

Sir Philip, chairman of the hospital fund-raising committee, said 660 names of a possible 795 are on the list.

It is expected the petition will be placed before provincial government authorities this week.

QORs Fined For Fracas In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Three soldiers of the Queen's Own Rifles, charged with using foul language and creating a disturbance in a Chinatown cafe, were fined by Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts in city police court.

The offence occurred early Saturday morning, and they appeared in court a few hours later.

Sgt. James R. Waldron, referred to by police as the noisiest of the three, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance and admitted wrecking a juke box. He was fined $50 and costs.

Pte. Gerard Lambert was fined $35 for taking part in the disturbance, and Pte. Roland Brown was fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated in a public place.

Police testified that Sgt. Waldron had used foul language in addressing the cafe proprietor and themselves, and that all three had resisted arrest.

March of Dimes Drive Nets $396

Of this amount, $44 was realized from a special card party, $96 from appeal containers, $22 from bowlers and the remainder from individual and club donations.

Council Ponders $31,000 Residue From Park Sale

NANAIMO — City council in committee met with representatives of the parks board Friday night to discuss views regarding the best application of the $31,000 remaining from the sale of the old Central Sports Ground.

No statement was forthcoming from the mayor, as council in committee has yet to meet with the recreation commission and the Vancouver Island Exhibition Board before a full decision can be reached.

CALGARY (CP)—Officials of the Calgary Stampeders football club announced Sunday night the signing of Bob Masterson, coach of Toronto Varsity Blues for the last seven years, as manager of the club. He succeeds Bob Robinett, who held the post for the last three years and whose resignation is effective Feb. 15.

Award Granted To Duncan Man By Engineers

Howard A. Grant of Duncan has been named winner of the $100 annual scholarship of the Vancouver Island Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, it was announced today.

Mr. Grant is now an engineering student at University of British Columbia.

The award was announced at the annual meeting at which Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull was elected chairman for the subsequent year. Named vice-chairman was R. C. Thurber; secretary-treasurer, J. D. Robertson.

Elected to the executive were Reg Bowering, J. A. H. Carson, W. G. McIntosh and A. F. Paget.

Following the meeting at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, members saw the film "Leonard da Vinci," purchased by the institute for instructional purposes. It won the 1952 documentary award in the 1952 Venice film festival.

W. F. Thorburn Heads Legion At Salt Spring

GANGES — W. F. Thorburn was elected president of Salt Spring Island Branch 92, Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting in the Legion Hall here.

Other officers for 1956 are: first vice-president, B. C. Greenhough; second vice-president, G. Heinekey; secretary, J. Sturdy; treasurer, D. Fyvie; sergeant-at-arms, H. Loosmore; executive, D. Baldwyn, A. R. Layard, J. C. Smith, W. A. Trelford, M. T. Mouat, A. Barber, F. J. Barnes and H. Newman; auditors, A. M. J. Field and J. A. Green.

A successful past year for the branch was reported by D. Baldwyn, retiring president, who mentioned the various activities including the salmon derby, Armistice Day dinner, and an auction sale.

Okanagan Visitors Mark Anniversary

CHEMAINUS—Mr. and Mrs. H. Connitty, of the Okanagan, visiting with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Knight, were honored last week on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. Many relatives and close friends were present.

NANAIMO GAME CLUB PLANS RESCUE TEAM

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Fish and Game Protective Association soon will outline and discuss plans for an organized search and rescue party within the association.

The idea, put forward by Ted Barsby at the association meeting Friday night, met with immediate approval from the other members present. The association felt that an organized search and rescue party, called upon when hunters are reported lost, would regulate searches and cut down confusion. The organization would operate under the jurisdiction of the RCMP.

The association gained 200 members in 1955, bringing total membership to 488. Sum of $988 was realized in membership fees. Funds at the end of the year totalled $1,483.

Sportsman Advocates Recreation Programs

Mr. Cain, who has spent much of his spare time in the past 25 years working with youngsters, said "youths are susceptible during the formative years of their early teens. They have a lot of time on their hands and a lot of excess energy to burn. Recreation gives them an opportunity to get rid of that excess energy."

Any type of a recreation program in the community will do, he said. "Every community should have one major sport in the winter and another in the summer. It doesn't have to be basketball or tennis, just as long as it is active and many youngsters are taking part."

"Take Little League baseball," he said, "The players learn poise, self-reliance, sportsmanship, and how to work and play with all races, colors and creeds."

The municipality of North Cowichan and the city of Duncan are doing little to encourage a recreation program or provide recreational facilities, he said.

"Yet the city of Nanaimo budgets over $19,000 a year for a recreation program," he said.

Delinquency Curb To Be Discussed By Panel at 'Y'

Effective help to young people to combat delinquency will be discussed by a panel at the YMCA Young Adult Club Tuesday night.

Participating will be Ruth Pearce, Salvation Army; Dennis Whitehead, YMCA; Lorne Clarehue, Victoria Presbytery Young Peoples' Union, United Church; Irelene Newton, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, and John Cowlin, YMCA.

Discussion leader will be Mary Medana, president of the club.

Sales Tax Halved On Drilling Tools

B.C. cabinet today approved a 50 per cent reduction in the sales tax paid on equipment used for exploratory oil well drilling.

By order-in-council, the cabinet ordered that half of the sales tax collected on such equipment shall be returned to the operator, as a means of encouraging oil well drilling.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. "BACK-ACHE was Unbearable So I couldn't work"

Do you find that rheumatic pains are sometimes almost sheer torment? Do you long for relief as did Mme Denise Godin of 1240 Berri St., Montreal, P.Q.? Then read about Mrs. Godin's discovery: "I work at a machine, and not long ago suffered from backache so painful I could hardly walk. I tried several medicines, but nothing seemed to help. Then when the pain was unbearable I heard about Templeton's T-R-C's. I am delighted to say that my back-ache almost completely disappeared from the first capsules, and also the sharp pain between my shoulders. I can work without difficulty and am well satisfied with T-R-C's." You too may get the same satisfactory relief from your rheumatic pain. Take Templeton's T-R-C's—only 79c and $1.50 at drug counters. ## STEWARDESSES PLAN STRIKE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airline stewardesses have voted 95 per cent in favor of striking "any time now," it was announced here Saturday.

CPA employs 75 stewardesses operating from Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg and Prince Rupert.

City Man Wins Quick Fame For Color Print

International fame in one-sixtieth of a second is certainly a record, and Stephen Jones, 2382 Lincoln, has achieved it.

An amateur photographer, he has won honorable mention in a world-wide selection of photographs by the Saturday Review, outstanding in its field on this continent in things artistic.

Mr. Jones, a government employee here, has been a follower of photography since 1912, and has been interested in color photography since 1933. He has won many awards in the field, and is a former president of the Victoria Camera Club.

He is a former Great Lakes wireless operator and a former Toronto newspaperman.

SYMPHONY RESPONDS

Mazzoleni Baton Elegant, Precise

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

On two occasions during the current symphony season, we have had opportunity to listen and observe the Victoria Symphony Orchestra at work with a guest conductor on the podium.

Each time this presence seemed to highlight with striking intensity, the virtues and advances the orchestra has accomplished under its resident musical director, Hans Gruber.

The orchestra's response to the varying styles and demands of first, Clifford Evens, and this weekend, Dr. Ettore Mazzoleni, distinguished Toronto musician, is eloquent proof of its efficiency.

At Sunday afternoon's concert Dr. Mazzoleni, a conductor whose technique has an elegance and precision that is in itself delightful to watch, evoked performances of Tschaikowsy's "Romeo and Juliet" overture and the Mendelssohn Fifth "Reformation" Symphony that at moments were thrilling and, frequently, deeply stirring.

The "Reformation" which was heard in live performance for the first time in Victoria, is certainly an experience to be sought again.

It has vitality, sweeping melodic passages, delightful contrapuntal episodes and a climax that is veritably a thing of splendor.

It was a realizable truth, Sunday, for this reviewer at any rate; a symphonic concert is rightly a three-way participation of conductor-orchestra-audience. Dr. Mazzoleni's warm personality and enjoyment in what he and the orchestra are creating makes this very obvious.

The concert will be repeated tonight at 8.30.

Extra Billions For U.S. Arms

Ike Passes Up Tax Cuts To Boost Military Power

(CP and UP Dispatches)

It calls for an increase in military spending of almost a billion and a half dollars because of Russia's failure to agree to a workable disarmament program.

It almost doubles new foreign aid money which, the president said, is needed to fight international communism in Asia and the Middle East and provide the Atlantic alliance with new weapons and equipment.

It was a no-tax-cut budget. As long as times continue good, he said, Congress must first consider reducing the national debt before slashing taxes.

The spending figure was up $1.6 billion over the current year, with most of the increase earmarked for air power, atomic weapons and guided missiles.

REVENUES BOOMING

But federal revenues were estimated to rise even faster under the impact of the booming economy—from $64.5 billion this year to $66.3 billion in fiscal 1957, which begins next July 1.

That means a budget surplus of $400 million for 1957. And Mr. Eisenhower said revised figures for the current year show there will be a surplus of $200 million on June 30. They are the first surpluses since 1951.

The budget proposes an increase next year of virtually $1,000,000,000 in direct defence spending, to a total of $35,547,000,000, plus an increase in spending for atomic energy development and control of $230,000,000, to $1,945,000,000.

26,736 AIRCRAFT

Mr. Eisenhower's proposed military expenditures would support an air force of 137 wings, 26,736 planes and 936,000 men; a navy of 411 warships, 12,576 planes, three marine divisions with air wings, and 868,958 men, including marines; and an army of 19 divisions, 10 regimental combat teams, 143 anti-aircraft battalions and 1,034,500 men.

About $6.8 billion would be used for purchase of military planes, including the B-52 intercontinental bomber and new supersonic fighters. $1.3 billion would go for guided missiles.

President Eisenhower explained the increased military expenditure is due to the failure of Soviet leaders to give "any tangible evidence of an intention to agree on a plan of disarmament that can be verified by adequate inspection."

ARMS AID NOT ENOUGH

Eisenhower asked for new foreign aid appropriations amounting to $4,860,000,000, almost double the $2,700,000,000 approved last year.

The proposed expenditures included funds for defence support for nations who otherwise could not afford to maintain forces raised to bolster national and international security, for the economic development of backward areas and for technical aid programs.

The president said that military aid is not enough to meet the challenge which faces the non-Communist world.

"Because the conditions of poverty and unrest in less-developed areas make their people a special target of international communism there is a need to help them achieve the economic growth and stability necessary to preserve their independence against Communist threats and enticements."

Death Driver Never Drove Car Before

Admits Drinking Before Accident

A city policeman testified today 20-year-old Peter Henry Bell said he had never driven before and that he had been drinking prior to becoming involved in a fatal accident in Victoria West Dec. 27.

Bell, a sailor, was charged with motor manslaughter following the death of Becher Bay Indian tribe chief Jasper J. Charles, 55, early the morning of Dec. 28.

Charles died following a car-truck crash at about 9 p.m. on Dec. 27.

RYE AND BEER

Ward also testified Bell told him that he had been drinking rye and beer.

Constable Ward said that as he was bending over Charles, who was lying on the roadway, Bell said he was the driver of the car which collided with the truck.

An eye-witness, George Belcher, said the car was weaving from side to side on Johnson Street and did not have lights burning.

COMMENDATION FOR HERO SOLDIER

Commendation for saving an Esquimalt girl's life last June 6 was received today by Work Point military policeman L/Cpl. Roy Donnelly, 28, 976 Esquimalt. Praise came from chief of the army general staff, Lt.-Gen. H. D. Graham. Susan Darling, nine, 1133 Heald, has been in hospital seven months and will be there another six recovering from burns sustained when playing near bonfire. photo.)

Soviet Bid To Catch West Worries Britain

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia Sunday announced an all-out drive to "overtake and surpass" the capitalist West in industrial, atomic and agricultural development.

The challenge came in a new five-year plan issued by the Soviet Communist party covering the years 1956-1960 inclusive. The plan, sixth in the series launched by Stalin in 1928, provides for:

1. A 65 per cent increase in industrial output by 1960, combined with speeded-up mechanization and the "automation" of industrial processes on a "wide scale."

2. A big new project to tap atomic energy for electricity, development and atomic energy for transport purposes and a plan to build an atom-powered icebreaker.

3. Record targets for steel, 68,000,000 tons, and coal, 593,000,000 tons, by 1960. The original targets set by Premier Nikolai Bulganin in a speech to the party central committee last July were 60,000,000 tons and 500,000,000 tons respectively.

4. Fifty per cent more technicians and specialists—interpreted as a serious challenge to the West.

5. A 70 per cent increase in heavy industry, wage increases of 30 per cent for Soviet workers and the building of twice as many houses as under the 1951-55 plan.

6. More intensive schooling for all Soviet children.

7. A trebled fleet of freighters and tankers and an almost fourfold expansion of the Soviet fishing fleet.

8. A major development of television, including color transmission.

The plan takes the form of a series of directives to be submitted for approval to the 20th Communist party congress opening in Moscow Feb. 14. Technically, however, the plan went into force Jan. 1.

New Soviet Goals Worry Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspapers today cite the technological training program outlined in Russia's sixth five-year plan as something which the West must try to match or emulate.

The Times says the announcement of Soviet targets for the next five-year plan, starting this month, is a sobering reminder of the steady industrial progress which continues as the background to Soviet foreign policy.

It points out that the plan reverses the relaxation of effort proposed under the brief regime of Georgi Malenkov. It adds that the length of time the Russian people will be asked to continue at this pace "depends very much on the international policies of its leaders."

"The Soviets enjoy some material advantages over the free world in the development of their resources. Some of these are due to difference of political outlook, some not.

"An avoidable handicap, of which Great Britain in particular should take heed, lies in neglect of the training of technologists.

The Manchester Guardian speculates that Russian aims to "overtake" the most advanced capitalist countries in the new five-year plan may depend more on whether "it can greatly increase food production" than on "the remarkable plans for technical education or increased power output."

It points out that "Russia had made its great industrial progress since the war by exploiting the workers in a way which would not be tolerated in the West."

The News Chronicle, noting provisions for increasing the number of technicians during the present five-year period by 50 per cent, asserts: "In a world of competitive co-existence, where technological skills are essential to survival, the threat is obvious and enormous. The West is lagging hopelessly behind in technical education."

The Daily Mail declares:

"By 1960, the last year of the new plan, she (Russia) will have doubled her total of technicians in all branches of industry, while the number of highly educated specialists in heavy industry will be half as much again.

"Neither Britain nor America has so far been able to show anything comparable with this."

13 Boys, Girls Arrested In Vancouver Crackdown

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirteen teenagers were arrested after 50 were questioned by police during the weekend in a crackdown on hooliganism ordered by police chief George Archer.

Offences ranged from disturbing the peace to drunkenness and car theft. A 15-year-old girl was charged with intoxication. Two older youths may face charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency, said police. They were found in the company of two girls, 14 and 15, at a hotel drinking party.

The two-block stretch will receive special attention from the youth detail, now backed by a special "trouble squad" which the new chief has ordered to clean out "gathering places of youthful rowdy elements and street corner hooliganism."

Two youths were charged with threatneing a restaurant owner with a knife when he wouldn't give them a free meal. Officers forced another group of youths to clean up a cafe where they had ripped telephone books to shreds and dumped sugar bowls on the floor.

CROSS-CANADA JET NEARS 5-HOUR GOAL

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — An RCAF T-33 jet trainer attempting to fly from Vancouver to Halifax in five hours or less took off from Fort William at 1.24 p.m., CST (11.24 a.m., Victoria time), today after a 25-minute stopover for refuelling.

The plane left Vancouver's International Airport at 7.49 a.m. (PST).

Acquitted Immigrant Turns On Gas, Dies

Kramer, 28, was found overcome sitting in a rocking chair beside the gas stove in his suite.

The jury returned the not guilty verdict after evidence showed the woman's death accidental. She had died of strangulation during a passionate embrace, evidence showed.

Discovery of his wife's body in a shallow grave along the Okanagan highway near Oliver ended a six-day search for the couple. Kramer was found later by RCMP wandering along the highway in an incoherent condition.

UNEMPLOYED

Kramer has been unemployed since Christmas, friends told police.

Police found $2.75 in his pocket after being called to the scene by caretker A. L. Brewer. Brewer had become suspicious after he noticed linen hanging outside Kramer's room had been untouched all day.

Earlier Sunday, fire department inhalator workers were unable to revive 73-year-old Christopher Wright, who was found overcome of gas poisoning in his room.

On the traffic front, Vancouver recorded its second fatality of the year Sunday night when Willam Adams, 62, of Beaverlodge, Alta., was killed in a traffic smash-up at Cambie and Broadway.

Adams died in a hospital an hour after he received multiple injuries when a car in which he was riding collided with a second vehicle driven by Joseph Desjardins. Police identified the driver of the Adams car as John Dahl, 39.

Vancouver's first 1956 fatality was officially recorded Saturday when Alex Anderaon, 75, died following being injured in a traffic accident Jan. 6.

Three Young People Killed by Car Fumes

RIMBEY, Alta. (CP)—Three young persons were killed by carbon monoxide fumes Sunday while sitting in a parked car. The discovery was made by the parents of one of the victims.

The dead: Glenda Joan Farnham, 18, of the Faraway district, 30 miles west of here and about 90 miles southwest of Edmonton; Joseph Toth, 23, and his brother, Nicholas, 25, of Alder Flats, Alta.

The bodies were found by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Farnham. The car was parked in the Farnham farm yard.

Howe Fights Back At Wheat Critics

OTAWA (BUP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe defended the government's wheat policy in the Commons today, declaring the Liberal party believed in strength and progress through "sufficiency."

The opposition, he said in a fighting speech, wanted strength and progress through "scarcity."

If in attaining sufficiency, Howe added, the country built up a temporary surplus of any product such as wheat, "We'll take the onus for that."

Policies based on scarcity, he said, "hold within themselves the seeds of inflation."

Howe entered the Throne Speech debate to answer opposition demands that cash advances be paid to western farmers for wheat held on their farms because of lack of elevator storage space.

Howe said that exports during the past four years had averaged 312,000,000 bushels of wheat a year, and in no year during the past four had Canada exported less wheat than it did in the best of the previous four years, from 1948 to 1951, which were "four very good, satisfactory years for Canada."

Howe also rejected suggestions that Canada should accept local foreign currencies for wheat, barter deals, or give-away plans, unless the give-away projects were to help a country facing a special disaster or crop failure.

Arms Rumor Cleared Up At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The Egyptian freighter Star of Assuan was chartered to carry Canadian military supplies to Turkey, defence officials said today.

Officials said they couldn't determine immediately what arms were being shipped to Turkey but they might well include 32 naval guns and 28 to 40 military trucks.

The officials were commenting on reports that the trucks, if actually aboard the freighter, might be destined for Egypt.

One said it was silly to assume that because the freighter is Egyptian it was carrying supplies to Egypt.

Egyptian Ambassador El Hussieni el Khatib said in Ottawa Friday the vehicles were not destined for Egypt and denied any knowledge of the shipment.

Mungo Starts Carving Tuesday On World's Tallest Totem

Today chief carver Mungo Martin, his son, David, and assistant carver Henry Hunt, stripped the bark from the tree. This afternoon they planned to square up the butt by sawing off two to three feet.

The exact length of the carved portion of the tree has not been announced. But it will be over 100 feet, 19 feet more than the totem in the provincial museum in Toronto, which has been claimed as the world's tallest.

Since the tree was felled, Munga Martin has revised the design for the totemic story slightly to fit in with the raw material offered by the tree.

Carving will commence at the butt end of the tree, a departure from usual practice, which is to start at the top and work down. But Mungo wishes to use every possible inch of the tree in carving the world's tallest totem, and feels it will be better to begin at the heavier end.

Ten feet at the base of the tree will be buried in a cement foundation when it is erected at its permanent site. Thus actual carving will commence 12 to 13 feet from the end of the tree when it was felled.

Following his own design sketches, Mungo will rough out the figures on the pole, while David and Henry follow him, smoothing out and finishing them.

Eden Will Ask Ike Searching Questions

LONDON (Reuters)—British charges that Saudi Arabia is using American "oil money" to promote a wide anti-British campaign in the Middle East will be discussed at Prime Minister Eden's meeting with President Eisenhower in Washington later this month, diplomatic sources here said Sunday.

Eden is expected to ask that the influence of the United States be used to remove what the British government maintains is a serious impediment to Anglo-American efforts to pacify the troubled region.

1. The whipping up of agitation in neighboring Arab states against the five-nation Baghdad pact.

2. Attempting to bribe Arab sheiks in the Persian Gulf with millions of pounds in efforts to gain control of the oil-rich Buraimi oasis area.

Britain maintains that both these operations are financed with royalties paid to the Jedda government by the American oil company Aramco for its concessions in Saudi Arabia.

BROOKLYN CHURCH BECOMES TOWER OF BABEL

Two Rectors Preach From Same Pulpit

NEW YORK (AP) — Two ministers simultaneously occupied the pulpit of a Brooklyn Episcopal church Sunday in a parish feud over a controversial rector.

The setting was the stately, 102-year-old Church of the Holy Trinity, but the bustling activities within the edifice presented anything but the usual quiet devout Sunday worship.

At early morning prayer services, a divided congregation listened to the controversial Rev. William Howard Melish and the bishop-appointed Rev. Robert Thomas. The preachers' competing voices and the responses of the split congregations brought to mind the biblical story of the Tower of Babel.

For the principal service at 11 a.m. Sunday, some 250 persons filed into the church.

Both rectors began conducting services from the central pulpit. Thomas ordered a hymn, and the organ played. Melish began with prayers and responses.

After several minutes, Thomas was heard to tell Melish: "You are out of order, Mr. Melish."

For seven years a vestry fight was raged over Melish, accused of left-wing activities since he became chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship in 1949. Former Communist Louis Budenz has testified the clergyman was a Communist party member—a charge Melish has repeatedly denied.

Melish's father, Rev. John Howard Melish, was removed in 1949 as the last regular rector of the church by the bishop because of the alleged activities of his son, then assistant rector.

For years the vestry and the congregation sided with the younger Melish, and were blocked only by Bishop James P. DeWolfe from installing the son as rector.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

GOD, the fountain of all truth, we thank Thee for the devoted teachers in our schools, who serve as ambassadors of the truth. Endow them with wisdom, patience, and understanding for the mastery of their craft. Raise up many others to join them in the shaping of growing minds and hearts into good citizens of the nation and of the world; through Christ. Amen.

Vancouver Crackdown Nets 13 Girls, Boys

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirteen teenagers were arrested after 50 were questioned by police during the weekend in a crackdown on hooliganism ordered by police chief George Archer.

Offences ranged from disturbing the peace to drunkenness and car theft. A 15-year-old girl was charged with intoxication. Two older youths may face charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency, said police. They were found in the company of two girls, 14 and 15, at a hotel drinking party.

The two-block stretch will receive special attention from the youth detail, now backed by a special "trouble squad" which the new chief has ordered to clean out "gathering places of youthful rowdy elements and street corner hooliganism."

Two youths were charged with threatneing a restaurant owner with a knife when he wouldn't give them a free meal. Officers forced another group of youths to clean up a cafe where they had ripped telephone books to shreds and dumped sugar bowls on the floor.

Admits Drinking Before Accident

A city policeman testified today 20-year-old Peter Henry Bell said he had never driven before and that he had been drinking prior to becoming involved in a fatal accident in Victoria West Dec. 27.

Bell, a sailor, was charged with motor manslaughter following the death of Becher Bay Indian tribe chief Jasper J. Charles, 55, early the morning of Dec. 28.

Charles died following a car-truck crash at about 9 p.m. on Dec. 27.

RYE AND BEER

Ward also testified Bell told him that he had been drinking rye and beer.

Constable Ward said that as he was bending over Charles, who was lying on the roadway, Bell said he was the driver of the car which collided with the truck.

An eye-witness, George Belcher, said the car was weaving from side to side on Johnson Street and did not have lights burning.

$35 Billion Total On Military Costs

(CP and UP Dispatches)

It calls for an increase in military spending of almost a billion and a half dollars because of Russia's failure to agree to a workable disarmament program.

It almost doubles new foreign aid money which, the president said, is needed to fight international communism in Asia and the Middle East and provide the Atlantic alliance with new weapons and equipment.

It was a no-tax-cut budget. As long as times continue good, he said, Congress must first consider reducing the national debt before slashing taxes.

The spending figure was up $1.6 billion over the current year, with most of the increase earmarked for air power, atomic weapons and guided missiles.

REVENUES BOOMING

But federal revenues were estimated to rise even faster under the impact of the booming economy—from $64.5 billion this year to $66.3 billion in fiscal 1957, which begins next July 1.

That means a budget surplus of $400 million for 1957. And Mr. Eisenhower said revised figures for the current year show there will be a surplus of $200 million on June 30. They are the first surpluses since 1951.

The budget proposes an increase next year of virtually $1,000,000,000 in direct defence spending, to a total of $35,547,000,000, plus an increase in spending for atomic energy development and control of $230,000,000, to $1,945,000,000.

26,736 AIRCRAFT

Mr. Eisenhower's proposed military expenditures would support an air force of 137 wings, 26,736 planes and 936,000 men; a navy of 411 warships, 12,576 planes, three marine divisions with air wings, and 868,958 men, including marines; and an army of 19 divisions, 10 regimental combat teams, 143 anti-aircraft battalions and 1,034,500 men.

About $6.8 billion would be used for purchase of military planes, including the B-52 intercontinental bomber and new supersonic fighters. $1.3 billion would go for guided missiles.

President Eisenhower explained the increased military expenditure is due to the failure of Soviet leaders to give "any tangible evidence of an intention to agree on a plan of disarmament that can be verified by adequate inspection."

ARMS AID NOT ENOUGH

Eisenhower asked for new foreign aid appropriations amounting to $4,860,000,000, almost double the $2,700,000,000 approved last year.

The proposed expenditures included funds for defence support for nations who otherwise could not afford to maintain forces raised to bolster national and international security, for the economic development of backward areas and for technical aid programs.

The president said that military aid is not enough to meet the challenge which faces the non-Communist world.

"Because the conditions of poverty and unrest in less-developed areas make their people a special target of international communism there is a need to help them achieve the economic growth and stability necessary to preserve their independence against Communist threats and enticements."

Russians Launch New 5-Year Plan

Britain Worried by Soviets' Big Bid to Catch Up With West

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia Sunday announced an all-out drive to "overtake and surpass" the capitalist West in industrial, atomic and agricultural development.

The challenge came in a new five-year plan issued by the Soviet Communist party covering the years 1956-1960 inclusive. The plan, sixth in the series launched by Stalin in 1928, provides for:

1. A 65 per cent increase in industrial output by 1960, combined with speeded-up mechanization and the "automation" of industrial processes on a "wide scale."

2. A big new project to tap atomic energy for electricity, development and atomic energy for transport purposes and a plan to build an atom-powered icebreaker.

3. Record targets for steel, 68,000,000 tons, and coal, 593,000,000 tons, by 1960. The original targets set by Premier Nikolai Bulganin in a speech to the party central committee last July were 60,000,000 tons and 500,000,000 tons, respectively.

4. Fifty per cent more technicians and specialists—interpreted as a serious challenge to the West.

5. A 70 per cent increase in heavy industry, wage increases of 30 per cent for Soviet workers and the building of twice as many houses as under the 1951-55 plan.

6. More intensive schooling for all Soviet children.

Killed by Car Fumes

RIMBEY, Alta. (CP)—Three young persons were killed by carbon monoxide fumes Sunday while sitting in a parked car. The discovery was made by the parents of one of the victims.

The dead: Glenda Joan Farnham, 18, of the Faraway district, 30 miles west of here and about 90 miles southwest of Edmonton; Joseph Toth, 23, and his brother, Nicholas, 25, of Alder Flats, Alta.

The bodies were found by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Farnham. The car was parked in the Farnham farm yard.

Acquitted Immigrant Turns On Gas, Dies

The jury returned the not guilty verdict after evidence showed the woman's death accidental. She had died of strangulation during a passionate embrace, evidence showed.

Discovery of his wife's body in a shallow grave along the Okanagan highway near Oliver ended a six-day search for the couple. Kramer was found later by RCMP wandering along the highway in an incoherent condition.

Kramer has been unemployed since Christmas, friends told police.

Police found $2.75 in his pocket after being called to the scene by caretaker A. L. Brewer. Brewer had become suspicious after he noticed linen hanging outside Kramer's room had been untouched all day.

Earlier Sunday, fire department inhalator workers were unable to revive 73-year-old Christopher Wright, who was found overcome of gas poisoning in his room.

On the traffic front, Vancouver recorded its second fatality of the year Sunday night when William Adams, 62, of Beaverlodge, Alta., was killed in a traffic smash-up at Cambie and Broadway.

Adams died in a hospital an hour after he received multiple injuries when a car in which he was riding collided with a second vehicle driven by Joseph Desjardins. Police identified the driver of the Adams car as John Dahl, 39.

Vancouver's first 1956 fatality was officially recorded Saturday when Alex Anderson, 75, died following being injured in a traffic accident Jan. 6.

Pact Waits Red Reply

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has submitted a draft trade agreement to Russia but has had no reply, Trade Minister C. D. Howe told the Commons today.

Mungo Starts Carving Tuesday On World's Tallest Totem

Today chief carver Mungo Martin, his son, David, and assistant carver Henry Hunt, stripped the bark from the tree. This afternoon they planned to square up the butt by sawing off two to three feet.

The exact length of the carved portion of the tree has not been announced. But it will be over 100 feet, 19 feet more than the totem in the provincial museum in Toronto, which has been claimed as the world's tallest.

Since the tree was felled, Munga Martin has revised the design for the totemic story slightly to fit in with the raw material offered by the tree.

Carving will commence at the butt end of the tree, a departure from usual practice, which is to start at the top and work down. But Mungo wishes to use every possible inch of the tree in carving the world's tallest totem, and feels it will be better to begin at the heavier end.

Ten feet at the base of the tree will be buried in a cement foundation when it is erected at its permanent site. Thus actual carving will commence 12 to 13 feet from the end of the tree when it was felled.

Following his own design sketches, Mungo will rough out the figures on the pole, while David and Henry follow him, smoothing out and finishing them.

Actual work on carving will be started early Tuesday.
